Takeover The New Wall Street Warriors:

Takeover Moira Johnston, 1986 Takeover Moira Johnston, 2000 The Insatiability of Human Wants Regenia Gagnier, 2000-12 What is the relationship between our conception of humans as producers or creators as consumers of taste and pleasure and as creators of value Combining cultural history economics and literary criticism Regenia Gagnier's new work traces the parallel development of economic and aesthetic theory offering a shrewd reading of humans as workers and wanters born of labor and desire The Insatiability of Human Wants begins during a key transitional moment in aesthetic and economic theory 1871 when both disciplines underwent a turn from production to consumption models In economics an emphasis on the theory of value and the social relations between land labor and capital gave way to more individualistic models of consumerism Similarly in aesthetics theories of artistic production or creativity soon bowed to models of taste pleasure and reception Using these developments as a point of departure Gagnier deftly traces the shift in Western thought from models of production to consumption From its exploration of early market logic and Kantian thought to its look at the aestheticization of homelessness and our own market boom The Insatiability of Human Wants invites us to contemplate alternative interpretations of economics aesthetics and history itself Competitiveness Matters Candace Howes, Ajit Singh, 2010-08-27 This book argues against the current view that competitiveness that is the competitiveness of the manufacturing sector matters to the long term health of the U S economy and particularly to its long term capacity to raise the standard of living of its citizens The book challenges the arguments popularized most recently by Paul Krugman that competitiveness is a dangerous obsession that distracts us from the question most central to solving the problem of stagnant real income growth namely what causes productivity growth especially in the service sector The central argument is that if the U S economy is to achieve full employment with rising real wages it is necessary to enhance the competitiveness of its tradable goods sector The book shows that current account deficits cannot be explained by macroeconomic mismanagement but are rather the consequence of an uncompetitive manufacturing sector It finds that the long term health of the manufacturing sector requires not only across the board policies to remedy problems of low or inefficient investment but also sectoral policies to address problems that are strategic to resolving the balance of payments problems Lessons are drawn from the experience of some European and Asian countries This book will be of interest to economists political scientists and business researchers concerned with the place of the manufacturing sector in overall health of the U S economy with issues of industrial policy and industrial restructuring and with the conditions for rising standards of living Candace Howes is Associate Professor Barbara Hogate Ferrin Chair Connecticut College Ajit Singh is Professor of Economics Queens College Cambridge The Meritocracy Trap Daniel Markovits, 2020-09-08 A revolutionary new argument from eminent Yale Law professor Daniel Markovits attacking the false promise of meritocracy It is an axiom of American life that advantage should be earned through ability and effort Even as the country divides itself at every turn the meritocratic ideal that social and economic rewards should follow achievement rather than breeding reigns supreme Both Democrats and Republicans insistently repeat meritocratic notions Meritocracy cuts to the heart of who we are It sustains the American dream But what if both up and down the social ladder meritocracy is a sham Today meritocracy has become exactly what it was conceived to resist a mechanism for the concentration and dynastic transmission of wealth and privilege across generations Upward mobility has become a fantasy and the embattled middle classes are now more likely to sink into the working poor than to rise into the professional elite At the same time meritocracy now ensnares even those who manage to claw their way to the top requiring rich adults to work with crushing intensity exploiting their expensive educations in order to extract a return All this is not the result of deviations or retreats from meritocracy but rather stems directly from meritocracy s successes This is the radical argument that Daniel Markovits prosecutes with rare force Markovits is well placed to expose the sham of meritocracy Having spent his life at elite universities he knows from the inside the corrosive system we are trapped within Markovits also knows that if we understand that meritocratic inequality produces near universal harm we can cure it When The Meritocracy Trap reveals the inner workings of the meritocratic machine it also illuminates the first steps outward towards a new world that might once again afford dignity and prosperity to the American people Speculative

Management Dan Krier,2005-03-17 Argues that recent initiatives by industrial management were directed more toward short term gains than improving efficiency Oil & Honor Thomas Petzinger,1999 Bloodsport Robert

Teitelman,2016-04-05 Bloodsport is the story of how the mania for corporate deals and mergers all began how power lawyers Joe Flom and Marty Lipton major Wall Street players Felix Rohatyn and Bruce Wasserstein prominent jurists and shrewd ideologues provided the energy that drove the corporate elite into a less cozy Hobbesian world with total dollar volume in the trillions Four questions whose force remains undiminished Are shareholders the owners Should control be exerted by autonomous CEOs or is that illegitimate and inefficient Is the primary purpose of corporations to generate jobs and create prosperity for the masses and the nation or is it simply to maximize the wealth of shareholders The Role of Distribution in

The Assault on Labor Sandra L. Albrecht, 2016-12-20 The Assault on Labor details the 1986 Independent Federation of Flight Attendants (IFFA) strike against Trans World Airlines (TWA) one of the most dramatic instances of the heightened labor conflict in the 1980s Using extensive court union and company documents The Assault on Labor shows how the expanded use of permanent replacements in labor disputes has fundamentally altered workers legal right to strike Set within one of the biggest corporate raids of the time it was a strike of a predominantly female labor force that garnered respect throughout the labor movement for its solidarity and determination Faced with the permanent replacement of over 5000 strikers IFFA waged a three year struggle to return all workers to the line mobilizing political economic and legal actions to secure their jobs and survive as a union Despite critical successes in the courts in the aftermath of the strike the Supreme Court would render a decision that further strengthened permanent replacements Since the 1980s labor's major form of protest the right to strike has all but disappeared
