Patent Office, 1902      The Bell System Technical Journal, 1929      The Engineering Index, 1924 Since its creation in 1884 Engineering Index has covered virtually every major engineering innovation from around the world It serves as the historical record of virtually every major engineering innovation of the 20th century Recent content is a vital resource for current awareness new production information technological forecasting and competitive intelligence The world's most comprehensive interdisciplinary engineering database Engineering Index contains over 10.7 million records Each year over 500,000 new abstracts are added from over 5,000 scholarly journals trade magazines and conference proceedings Coverage spans over 175 engineering disciplines from over 80 countries Updated weekly      Data Transportation and Protection John E. Hershey, Rao K. Yarlagadda, 2012-12-06 A new breed of engineer is developing in our contemporary society These engineers are concerned with communications and computers economics and regulation These new engineers apply themselves to data to its packaging transmission and protection They are data engineers Formal curricula do not yet exist for their dedicated development Rather they learn most of their tools on the job and their roots are in computer engineering communications engineering and applied mathematics There is a need to draw relevant material together and present it so that those who wish to become data engineers can do so for the betterment of themselves their employer their country and ultimately the world for we share the belief that the most effective tool for world peace and stability is neither politics nor armaments but rather the open and timely exchange of information This book has been written with that goal in mind Today numerous signs encourage us to expect broader information exchange in the years to come The movement toward a true Integrated Services Digital Network ISDN is perhaps the clearest of these Also the development of formal protocol layers reflects both a great deal of brilliance and compromise and also the desire for a common language among data engineers      Metropolitan Management, Transportation and Planning, 1923      Official Gazette of the United States Patent Office USA Patent Office, 1915

Electric Traction, 1923      Sequential and Parallel Processing in Depth Search Machines Adam Kapralski, 1994 Depth search machines DSMs and their applications for processing combinatorial tasks are investigated and developed in this book The combinatorial tasks are understood widely and contain sorting and searching processing NP complete and isomorphic complete problems computational geometry pattern recognition image analysis and expert reasoning The main philosophy is to see EXISTENCE and EVERY as the basic tasks while IDENTIFICATION SEARCHING and ALL algorithms are given both for single and parallel DSMs In this book many IDENTIFICATION SEARCHING and ALL algorithms are performed in single and parallel DSMs In order to support side applications of the given approach there are many new models for representing different combinatorial problems The given approach enables low computational complexity for many practical algorithms to be reached which is theoretically quite unexpected if the classic approach is followed LEAA.
