Syntax of the Albanian Verb Complex Philip L. Hubbard,2016-11-10 This work first published in 1985 is an analysis of the syntax of the Albanian verb complex The term verb complex is defined here as the verb stem and its conjugational endings together with the perfect auxiliaries and verb clitics In a wider sense the verb includes the verb and its central arguments subject direct object and indirect object The analysis is presented in a somewhat expanded version of the relational grammar framework of Perlmutter and Postal 1977 It is argued that by assuming the existence of multiple levels in the syntactic structure of a clause it is possible to account for the distribution of active and non active verb forms over the various constructions of Albanian with a single generalisation This title will be of interest to students of language and linguistics

Language Change at the Syntax-Semantics Interface Chiara Gianollo,Agnes Jäger,Doris Penka,2014-12-12 Bringing together diachronic research from a variety of perspectives notably typology formal syntax and semantics this volume focuses on the interplay of syntactic and semantic factors in language change an issue so far largely neglected both in mostly lexical historical semantics as well as historical syntax but recently brought into focus by grammaticalization theory as well as Minimalist diachronic syntax The contributions draw on data from numerous Indo European languages including Vedic Sanskrit Middle Indic Greek as well as English and German and discuss a range of phenomena such as change in negation markers indefinite articles quantifiers modal verbs argument structure among others The papers analyze diachronic evidence in the light of contemporary syntactic and semantic theory addressing the crucial question of how syntactic and semantic change are linked and whether both are governed by similar constraints principles and systematic mechanisms The volume will appeal to scholars in historical linguistics and formal theories of syntax and semantics Syntax-Information
