The Untold Story of Champ Robert E. Bartholomew, 2012-12-04 The lake surface was glass My girlfriend and I were fishing from our anchored rowboat in about fifteen feet of water facing the New York shore Ron what s that I turned About thirty feet away I saw three dark humps protruding about two feet above the surface The humps were perhaps two or three feet apart They didn t move We didn t either We watched in disbelief for about ten seconds The humps slowly sank into the water There was no wake no telltale sign of movement Unexplained Eerie Unsettling from the Foreword by Ronald S Kermani Scotland may have Nessie the Loch Ness Monster but we have Champ the legendary serpent like monster of Lake Champlain The first recorded sighting of Champ in 1609 has been attributed to the lake s namesake French explorer and cartographer Samuel de Champlain This is pure myth but there have been hundreds of sightings since then Robert E Bartholomew embarks on his own search both of the lake firsthand and through period sources and archives many never before published Although he finds the trail obscured by sloppy journalism local leaders motivated by tourism income and bickering monster hunters he weighs the evidence to craft a rich colorful history of Champ From the nineteenth century when Champ was a household name to 1977 when he appeared in Sandra Mansi s controversial photograph Bartholomew covers it all Real or imaginary Champ and his story will fascinate believers and skeptics alike

Mapping the Invisible Landscape Kent C. Ryden, 1993 Any landscape has an unseen component a subjective component of experience memory and narrative which people familiar with the place understand to be an integral part of its geography but which outsiders may not suspect the existence of Unless they listen and read carefully This invisible landscape is made visible through stories and these stories are the focus of this engrossing book Traveling across the invisible landscape in which we imaginatively dwell Kent Ryden himself a most careful listener and reader asks the following questions What categories of meaning do we read into our surroundings What forms of expression serve as the most reliable maps to understanding those meanings Our sense of any place he argues consists of a deeply ingrained experiential knowledge of its physical makeup an awareness of its communal and personal history a sense of our identity as being inextricably bound up with its events and ways of life and an emotional reaction positive or negative to its meanings and memories Ryden demonstrates that both folk and literary narratives about place bear a striking thematic and stylistic resemblance Accordingly Mapping the Invisible Landscape examines both kinds of narratives For his oral materials Ryden provides an in depth analysis of narratives collected in the Coeur d Alene mining district in the Idaho panhandle for his consideration of written works he explores the OC essay of place OC the personal essay which takes as its subject a particular place and a writer s relationship to that place Drawing on methods and materials from geography folklore and literature Mapping the Invisible Landscape offers a broadly interdisciplinary analysis of the way we situate ourselves imaginatively in the landscape the way we inscribe its surface with stories Written in an extremely engaging style this book will lead its readers to an awareness of the vital role that a sense of place plays in the formation of local cultures to an understanding of the many layered ways in which place interacts with individual lives and to renewed appreciation of the places in their own lives and landscapes
