Talking and Testing Richard Young, Agnes Weiyun He, 1998-01-01 A collection of papers that document various dimensions of the ways in which the language learner and the language proficiency interviewer use language to accomplish oral language assessment tasks The Routledge Handbook of Second Language Acquisition and Speaking Tracey M. Weir, 2004-11-22 Tests for the measurement of language abilities must be constructed according to a coherent validity framework based on the latest developments in theory and practice This innovative book by a world authority on language testing deals with all key aspects of language test design and implementation It provides a road map to effective testing based on the latest approaches to test validation A book for all MA students in Applied Linguistics or TESOL and for professional language teachers Prosody and interactional fluency of Italian learners of German Simona

Sbranna, 2025-07-01 This book explores the development of prosodic and interactional competence in second language acquisition drawing on data from peer interactions by Italian learners of German in both German and their native language Italian as well as from German native speakers Three key aspects of spoken interaction are examined across proficiency levels prosodic marking of information status turn taking and backchannels The analysis of prosodic marking of information status reveals that learners mark givenness using distinct fundamental frequency patterns as in their native language but apply a reduction in prosodic strength typically found postfocally in native German irrespective of its function This suggests that learners perceive deaccentuation as a salient marker of native German which they adopt during their learning This book also presents a novel approach to quantifying interactional competence showing that lower proficiency negatively affects the smoothness of interactional flow resulting in reduced speech time and increased overall silence Finally it provides new insights into backchannel use in second language and cross linguistic contexts Results show a complex non arbitrary mapping between lexical type turn taking function and intonation in both native languages In second language speech dyad specific behaviour was found to have a stronger effect on backchannel frequency and duration than second language proficiency Furthermore learners tend to transfer preferred lexical backchannel types from their first language into their second language Overall this book offers a multidimensional perspective on second language spoken interaction and lays the groundwork for future applications in language teaching and assessment The doctoral work on which this book is based was awarded the IPA PhD Thesis Award for the Best PhD Thesis in the broad area of Phonetics Speech Sciences and Laboratory Phonology in 2024

Differences in Second/Foreign Language Speech Production: Multidisciplinary Approaches and New Sounds Peijian Paul Sun, Boping Yuan, Xun Yan, Jimin Kahng, 2023-09-01 Second foreign language L2 speech production is a complex process requiring individuals combined efforts to utilize various processing components such as conceptualiser formulator and articulator Since the publication of Pim Levelt s book Speaking From Intention to Articulation in 1989 a considerable number of studies have examined L2 speech production in the field of neuroscience with a particular focus on the link between speech perception and speech production Undeniably a neurolinguistic examination of speech production can enrich our understanding of how human brains compute linguistic information at a cognitive level However it is insufficient by only focusing on the neurocognitive dimension of speech production given that individuals speech production can be subject to various individual differences factors either cognitively affectively or socio culturally It is therefore necessary to move beyond the neurocognitive understanding of speech production by taking every possible perspective into consideration Individual difference as an umbrella term covers psychological traits personal characteristics cognitive and emotional components that distinguish learners from each other Given that individual difference factors can reveal disparities in L2 learning and performance among learners such factors have attracted researchers growing interest concerning their influences on L2 speech processing their relationships with L2 speech performance and their contributions to L2 speech development Nevertheless our understanding of L2 speech production is not only insufficient compared to other L2 skills such as writing and reading but also limited to the neurocognitive account of L2 speech production More research therefore is in urgent need to uncover the influence of various individual differences factors on L2 speech production from multidisciplinary perspectives

Rethinking Second Language Learning Marisa Cordella, Hui Huang, 2016-05-19 This book evaluates a project where formal classroom learning of a second language was supplemented with informal natural interactions with older native speakers of the target language delivering a number of pedagogical and societal benefits The authors introduce a model of intergenerational intercultural encounters which aims to promote the use of community language resources enrich the experiences of young learners foster greater understanding between generations break down cultural stereotypes encourage appreciation of different cultures and enhance the quality of life and community engagement of older people with a bi multilingual background It draws on theories of language acquisition discourse analysis and psychosocial perspectives to propose a model of language learning for students that can be used for any language or locality It is therefore an essential resource for graduate students researchers and language teachers as well as for education aged and youth care policy makers practitioners and community services workers who are interested in innovative language pedagogy

Multidisciplinary Approaches to Code Switching Ludmila Isurin, Donald Winford, Kees de Bot, 2009-07-10 The volume presents a selection of contributions by leading scholars in the field of code switching In the past the phenomenon of code switching was studied within different subfields of linguistics and they all took their own perspectives on code switching without taking into account findings from other subdisciplines This book raises a question of a much broader multidisciplinary approach to studying the phenomenon of code switching calls for integration of disciplines and illustrates how frameworks from one subfield can be applied to models in another The volume includes survey chapters empirical studies contributions that use empirical data to test new hypotheses about code switching or suggest new approaches and models for the study of code switching and chapters that discuss principles and constraints of code switching and code switching vs transfer The book is easily accessible to anyone who is interested in the phenomenon of code switching in bilinguals Sign Bilingualism Carolina Plaza-Pust, Esperanza Morales-López, 2008-09-26 This volume provides a unique cross disciplinary perspective on the external ecological and internal psycholinguistic factors that determine sign bilingualism its development and maintenance at the individual and societal levels Multiple aspects concerning the dynamics of contact situations involving a signed and a spoken or a written language are covered in detail i e the development of the languages in bilingual deaf children cross modal contact phenomena in the productions of child and adult signers sign bilingual education concepts and practices in diverse social contexts deaf educational discourse sign language planning and interpretation This state of the art collection is enhanced by a final chapter providing a critical appraisal of the major issues emerging from the individual studies in the light of current assumptions in the broader field of contact linguistics Given the interdependence of research policy and practice the insights gathered in the studies presented are not only of scientific interest but also bear important implications concerning the perception understanding and promotion of bilingualism in deaf individuals whose language acquisition and use have been ignored for a long time at the socio political and scientific levels
