Jennings, Gretta Berghammer, 1986 Since the beginning of the theatre for youth movement in the United States at the turn of the century the majority of plays written for children have been fairy tales By the 1960s however encouraged by changes in social attitudes toward children playwrights began to respond to a growing tendency on the parts of both parents and teachers to have children face rather than avoid the more difficult truths of existence Thus children's dramatic literature was opened to new subjects themes and characters previously considered unsuitable for the young audience Theatre for Youth seeks to identify and illustrate this trend by examining twelve plays that deal with mature themes aging death and dying conformity sexuality divorce moral culpability The plays have been chosen not only for their mature content but also for their professional integrity the delicacy with which they handle their subject matter and their respect for their intended audience An excellent foreword by Jed H Davis and

The Mutilated Tennessee Williams, 1967-10 The Mutilated as described in Variety is about a pair of alternately friendly and quarrelsome floozies in a fleabag hotel in the French quarter of New Orleans in the 1930s Margaret Leighton plays the one who has inherited an income just sufficient to give her pretensions and keep her supplied with the wine Kate Reid plays a raucous hag just out of jail on a shoplifting charge The would be genteel lady is morbidly sensitive about being physically mutilated having had a breast removed Her harpy companion Williams seems to be saying is spiritually deformed having suffered the cruelty of fellow humans The implication is that all of us are maimed in some form or other The play is written as a sort of Christmas parable with a chorus of incidental characters singing hymns resembling carols Back cover The Best Plays of 1970-1971 Otis L.
