Synaesthesia The Strangest Thing:

Synaesthesia John E. Harrison, 2001 Synaesthesia is a confusion of the senses whereby stimulation of one sense triggers stimulation in a completely different sensory modality A synaesthete might claim to be able to hear colours taste shapes describe the colour shape and flavour of someone's voice or music the sound of which looks like shards of glass Throughout history many notable artists and writers have claimed to suffer from synaesthesia including Arthur Rimbaud Wassily Kandinsky Vladimir Nabakov and David Hockney The condition remains as controversial now as when first brought to the public eye many years ago one notable scientist dismissing it as mere romantic neurology. In Synaesthesia the strangest thing a world authority on synaesthesia takes us on a fascinating tour of this mysterious condition looking at historical incidences of synaesthesia unraveling the theories for the condition and additionally examining the claims to synaesthesia of the likes of Rimbaud Baudelaire and others The result is an exciting yet scientific account of an incredible condition one that will tell us of a world rich with the most unbelievable sensory experiences From the foreword by Simon Baron Cohen University of Cambridge Aside from inspiring fellow researchers this book will do much to educate the general public about the important but often overlooked point that we do not all experience this universe in the same way For the most part synaesthetes would not wish to be free of their synaesthesia and if anything feel somewhat sorry for the rest of us as we go about our unisensual existence My guess is that John Harrison's valuable book will ring a colourful bell for many people who until now did not realize that their experience had a name and who will now be able to identify themselves with like minded others For all The Hidden Sense Cretien Van Campen, 2010-02-26 The uncommon sensory these reasons this is quite a book perceptions of synesthesia explored through accounts of synesthetes experiences the latest scientific research and suggestions of synesthesia in visual art music and literature What is does it mean to hear music in colors to taste voices to see each letter of the alphabet as a different color These uncommon sensory experiences are examples of synesthesia when two or more senses cooperate in perception Once dismissed as imagination or delusion metaphor or drug induced hallucination the experience of synesthesia has now been documented by scans of synesthetes brains that show crosstalk between areas of the brain that do not normally communicate In The Hidden Sense Cretien van Campen explores synesthesia from both artistic and scientific perspectives looking at accounts of individual experiences examples of synesthesia in visual art music and literature and recent neurological research Van Campen reports that some studies define synesthesia as a brain impairment a short circuit between two different areas But synesthetes cannot imagine perceiving in any other way many claim that synesthesia helps them in daily life Van Campen investigates just what the function of synesthesia might be and what it might tell us about our own sensory perceptions He examines the experiences of individual synesthetes from Patrick who sees music as images and finds the most beautiful ones spring from the music of Prince to the schoolgirl Sylvia who is surprised to learn that not everyone sees the alphabet in colors as she does And he finds suggestions of synesthesia in the work of Scriabin Van Gogh Kandinsky Nabokov Poe and Baudelaire What is synesthesia It is not van Campen concludes an audiovisual performance a literary technique an artistic trend or a metaphor It is perhaps our hidden sense a way to think visually a key to our own sensitivity Wednesday Is Indigo Blue Richard E. Cytowic, David M. Eagleman, 2011-09-30 How the extraordinary multisensory phenomenon of synesthesia has changed our traditional view of the brain A person with synesthesia might feel the flavor of food on her fingertips sense the letter I as shimmering magenta or the number 5 as emerald green hear and taste her husband's voice as buttery golden brown Synesthetes rarely talk about their peculiar sensory gift believing either that everyone else senses the world exactly as they do or that no one else does Yet synesthesia occurs in one in twenty people and is even more common among artists One famous synesthete was novelist Vladimir Nabokov who insisted as a toddler that the colors on his wooden alphabet blocks were all wrong His mother understood exactly what he meant because she too had synesthesia Nabokov s son Dmitri who recounts this tale in the afterword to this book is also a synesthete further illustrating how synesthesia runs in families In Wednesday Is Indigo Blue pioneering researcher Richard Cytowic and distinguished neuroscientist David Eagleman explain the neuroscience and genetics behind synesthesia's multisensory experiences Because synesthesia contradicted existing theory Cytowic spent twenty years persuading colleagues that it was a real and important brain phenomenon rather than a mere curiosity Today scientists in fifteen countries are exploring synesthesia and how it is changing the traditional view of how the brain works Cytowic and Eagleman argue that perception is already multisensory though for most of us its multiple dimensions exist beyond the reach of consciousness Reality they point out is more subjective than most people realize No mere curiosity synesthesia is a window on the mind and brain highlighting the amazing differences in the way people see the world Cartographies of the Mind Massimo Marraffa, Mario De Caro, Francesco Ferretti, 2007-06-04 In the last three decades the level of interaction between philosophy and psychology has increased dramatically As a contribution to this trend this book explores some areas in which this interaction has been very productive or at least highly provocative. The interaction between philosophy and psychology can be of different kinds For example psychology can be the subject for philosophy of science In such a case the philosopher of science pursues the usual set of issues explanation reduction etc within the special case of psychology Or philosophy can be the source of proposals for improving psychology Vice versa the findings of psychology can be used to criticize philosophical theories and suggest ways to resolve some traditional philosophical questions about the mind such as the nature of mental representation perception emotion memory consciousness and free will The chapters in this book reflect these different forms of interaction in an effort to clarify issues and debates concerning some traditional cognitive capacities The result is a philosophically and scientifically up to date collection of cartographies of the mind The Oxford Handbook of Synesthesia Julia Simner, Edward M. Hubbard, 2018-10-23 Synesthesia is a fascinating phenomenon which has captured the imagination of scientists and artists alike This title brings together a broad body of knowledge about this condition into one definitive state of the art handbook Art Without Borders Ben-Ami Scharfstein, 2009-08-01 People all over the world make art and take pleasure in it and they have done so for millennia But acknowledging that art is a universal part of human experience leads us to some big questions Why does it exist Why do we enjoy it And how do the world s different art traditions relate to art and to each other Art Without Borders is an extraordinary exploration of those questions a profound and personal meditation on the human hunger for art and a dazzling synthesis of the whole range of inquiry into its significance Esteemed thinker Ben Ami Scharfstein's encyclopedic erudition is here brought to bear on the full breadth of the world of art He draws on neuroscience and psychology to understand the way we both perceive and conceive of art including its resistance to verbal exposition Through examples of work by Indian Chinese European African and Australianartists Art Without Borders probes the distinction between accepting a tradition and defying it through innovation which leads to a consideration of the notion of artistic genius Continuing in this comparative vein Scharfstein examines the mutual influence of European and non European artists Then through a comprehensive evaluation of the world's major art cultures he shows how all of these individual traditions are gradually but haltingly conjoining into a single current of universal art Finally he concludes by looking at the ways empathy and intuition can allow members of one culture to appreciate the art of another Lucid learned and incomparably rich in thought and detail Art Without Borders is a monumental accomplishment on par with the artistic achievements Scharfstein writes about so lovingly in its pages Music F Clifford Rose, 2010-07-30 The first British book on neurology in music was published over 30 years ago Edited by Drs Macdonald Critchley and R A Henson it was entitled Music and the Brain published by Wm Heinemann Medical Books but all of its contributors are now either retired or deceased Since then there has been an increasing amount of research and the present volume includes the most significant of these advances. The book begins with the evolutionary basis of meaning in music and continues with the historical perspectives after which the human nervous system is compared to a clavichord highlighting the use of metaphor in the history of modern neurology It discusses the neurologist in the concert hall as well as the musician at the bedside by showing how neurology enriches musical perception the main theme being the cerebral localisation of music production and perception The book also emphasises the value of teaching singing to treat speech disorders and the importance of nerve compression in musicians the final chapter being on recent techniques of imaging the musical brain a Comparing Notes Adam Ockelford, 2018-05-01 A tap of the foot a rush of emotion the urge to hum a tune without instruction or training we all respond intuitively to music Comparing Notes explores what music is why all of us are musical and how abstract patterns of sound that might not appear to mean anything can in fact be so meaningful Taking the reader on a clear and compelling tour of major twentieth century musical theories Professor Adam Ockelford arrives at his own important psychologically grounded theory of how music works From pitch and rhythm to dynamics and timbre he shows how all the elements of music cohere through the principle of imitation to create an abstract narrative in sound that we instinctively grasp whether listening to Bach or the Beatles Authoritative engaging and full of wonderful examples from across the musical spectrum Comparing Notes is essential reading for anyone who s ever loved a song sonata or symphony Progress in Colour Studies: Psychological aspects Carole Patricia Biggam, Christian Kay, Nicola Pitchford, 2006-01-01 The study of colour attracts researchers from a wide range of disciplines from both the sciences and the arts Along with its companion volume Progress in Colour Studies 1 Language and Culture this book offers a fascinating insight into current issues and research into colour Most of the papers originated in a 2004 conference entitled Progress in Colour Studies held in the University of Glasgow U K Some additional invited papers are included from investigators exploring new and exciting avenues of colour research The contributions to both books represent reviews of state of the art colour research in various disciplines and some new research findings are reported. This volume principally psychological in content focuses on the development of colour perception and colour language from infancy into adulthood across a diverse range of cultures including English Himba Chinese and Mexican and on the intriguing yet perplexing condition of synaesthesia thus bridging research from the physiology psychology and anthropology of colour Reanimating Industrial Spaces Hilary Orange, 2016-06-16 Reanimating Industrial Spaces explores the relationships between people and the places of former industry through approaches that incorporate and critique memory work The chapters in this volume consider four broad questions What is the relationship between industrial heritage and memory How is memory involved in the process of place making in regards to industrial spaces What are the strengths and pitfalls of conducting memory work What can be learned from cross disciplinary perspectives and methods The contributors have created a set of diverse case studies including iron smelting in Uganda Puerto Rican sugar mills and concrete factories in Albania which examine differing socio economic contexts and approaches to industrial spaces both in the past and in contemporary society A range of memory work is also illustrated from ethnography oral history digital technologies excavation and archival and documentary research

Van Tonder, Dhanraj Vishwanath, 2023-09-19 Proposing a new paradigm for perceptual science that goes beyond standard information theory and digital computation This book breaks with the conventional model of perception that views vision as a mere inference to an objective reality on the basis of inverse optics The authors offer the alternative view that perception is an expressive and awareness generating process Perception creates semantic information in such a way as to enable the observer to deal efficaciously with the chaotic and meaningless structure present at the physical boundary between the body and its surroundings Vision is intentional by its very nature visual qualities are essential and real providing an aesthetic and meaningful interface to the structures of physics and the state of the brain This view brings perception firmly in line with ethology and modern evolutionary biology and suggests new approaches in all disciplines that study or require an understanding of the ontology of mind The book is the joint effort of a multidisciplinary group of authors Topics covered include the relationships among stimuli neuronal processes and visual awareness After considering the mind dependent growing of information the book treats time and dynamics color shape and space language and perception perception art and Handbook of Experimental Phenomenology Liliana Albertazzi, 2013-03-15 While the scientific study of vision is well advanced a universal theory of qualitative visual appearances texture shape colour and so on is still lacking This interdisciplinary handbook presents the work of leading researchers around the world who have taken up the challenge of defining and formalizing the field of experimental phenomenology Presents and discusses a new perspective in vision science and formalizes a field of study that will become increasingly significant to researchers in visual science and beyond The contributors are outstanding scholars in their fields with impeccable academic credentials including Jan J Koenderink Irving Biederman Donald Hoffmann Steven Zucker and Nikos Logothetis Divided into five parts Linking Psychophysics and Qualities Qualities in Space Time and Motion Appearances Measurement and Qualities Science and Aesthetics of Appearances Each chapter will have the same structure consisting of topic overview historical roots debate new perspective methods results and recent developments Progress in Colour Studies Nicola Pitchford, Carole P.
