preserving records of the country whence they came They were too in a state of barbarism and altogether ignorant of the arts of reading or writing When they wished to keep a memorial of any great event such as a victory a treaty of peace the death of one king or the coronation of another they marked the spot where the occurrence took place with a heap of stones or set up a rough hewn pillar and bade their children recount to their descendants the circumstance which it was intended to commemorate An imperfect memory of certain great events was thus kept alive and the pillar or the heap of stones was appealed to as a memorial long after the people who had assisted in raising it were dead The Works of Charles Dickens.
