Zelizer, 2012-04-12 This book provides a sweeping interpretation of how business mobilized to influence public policy and elections since World War II Lobbying America Benjamin C. Waterhouse, 2015-11-24 Lobbying America tells the story of the political mobilization of American business in the 1970s and 1980s Benjamin Waterhouse traces the rise and ultimate fragmentation of a broad based effort to unify the business community and promote a fiscally conservative antiregulatory and market oriented policy agenda to Congress and the country at large Arguing that business's political involvement was historically distinctive during this period Waterhouse illustrates the changing power and goals of America's top corporate leaders Examining the rise of the Business Roundtable and the revitalization of older business associations such as the National Association of Manufacturers and the U S Chamber of Commerce Waterhouse takes readers inside the mind set of the powerful CEOs who responded to the crises of inflation recession and declining industrial productivity by organizing an effective and disciplined lobbying force By the mid 1970s that coalition transformed the economic power of the capitalist class into a broad reaching political movement with real policy consequences Ironically the cohesion that characterized organized business failed to survive the ascent of conservative politics during the 1980s and many of the coalition s top goals on regulatory and fiscal policies remained unfulfilled The industrial CEOs who fancied themselves the voice of business found themselves one voice among many vying for influence in an increasingly turbulent and unsettled economic landscape

Elusive Togetherness Paul Lichterman,2012-01-06 Many scholars and citizens alike have counted on civic groups to create broad ties that bind society Some hope that faith based civic groups will spread their reach as government retreats

Yet few studies ask how if at all civic groups reach out to their wider community Can religious groups long central in civic America create broad empowering social ties in an unequal diverse society Over three years Paul Lichterman studied nine liberal and conservative Protestant based volunteering and advocacy projects in a mid sized American city He listened as these groups tried to create bridges with other community groups social service agencies and low income people just as the 1996 welfare reforms were taking effect Counter to long standing arguments Lichterman discovered that powerful customs of interaction inside the groups often stunted external ties and even shaped religion s impact on the groups Comparing groups he found that successful bridges outward depend on group customs which invite reflective critical discussion about a group s place amid surrounding groups and institutions Combining insights from Alexis de Tocqueville John Dewey and Jane Addams with contemporary sociology Elusive Togetherness addresses enduring questions about civic and religious life that elude the popular social capital concept To create broad civic relationships groups need more than the right religious values political beliefs or resources They must learn new ways of being groups
