Tales from the King's African Rifles John Nunneley, 1998 Tales from the Kings African Rifles Nunneley, 2000-01 The Soldier and the Changing State Zoltan Barany, 2012-09-16 The Soldier and the Changing State is the first book to systematically explore on a global scale civil military relations in democratizing and changing states Looking at how armies supportive of democracy are built Zoltan Barany argues that the military is the most important institution that states maintain for without military elites who support democratic governance democracy cannot be consolidated Barany also demonstrates that building democratic armies is the quintessential task of newly democratizing regimes But how do democratic armies come about What conditions encourage or impede democratic civil military relations And how can the state ensure the allegiance of its soldiers Barany examines the experiences of developing countries and the armed forces in the context of major political change in six specific settings in the wake of war and civil war after military and communist regimes and following colonialism and unification apartheid He evaluates the army building and democratization experiences of twenty seven countries and explains which predemocratic settings are most conducive to creating a military that will support democracy Highlighting important factors and suggesting which reforms can be expected to work and fail in different environments he offers practical policy recommendations to state builders and democratizers Horne, 2005-11-01 Japan's lightning march across Asia during World War II was swift and brutal Nation after nation fell to Japanese soldiers How were the Japanese able to justify their occupation of so many Asian nations And how did they find supporters in countries they subdued and exploited Race War delves into submerged and forgotten history to reveal how European racism and colonialism were deftly exploited by the Japanese to create allies among formerly colonized people of color Through interviews and original archival research on five continents Gerald Horne shows how race played a key and hitherto ignored role in each phase of the war During the conflict the Japanese turned white racism on its head portraying the war as a defense against white domination in the Pacific We learn about the reverse racial hierarchy practiced by the Japanese internment camps in which whites were placed at the bottom of the totem pole under the supervision of Chinese Korean and Indian guards an embarrassing example of racial payback that was downplayed by the defeated Japanese and the humiliated Europeans and Euro Americans Focusing on the microcosmic example of Hong Kong but ranging from colonial India to New Zealand and the shores of the U S Gerald Horne radically retells the story of the war From racist U S propaganda to Black Nationalist open support of Imperial Japan information about the effect of race on U S and British policy is revealed for the first time This revisionist account of the war draws connections between General Tojo Malaysian freedom fighters and Elijah Muhammed of the Nation of Islam and shows how white racism encouraged and enabled Japanese imperialism In sum Horne demonstrates that the retreat of white supremacy was not only driven by the impact of the Cold War and the energized militancy of Africans and African Americans but by the impact of the Pacific War as well as a
