Translation and the Problem of Sway Douglas Robinson, 2011-05-18 In Translation and the Problem of Sway Douglas Robinson offers the concept of sway to bring together discussion of two translational phenomena that have traditionally been considered in isolation i e norms and errors norms as ideological pressures to conform to the source text and deviations from the source text as driven by ideological pressures to conform to some extratextual authority The two theoretical constructs around which the discussion of translational sway is organized are Peirce s interpretant as rethought by Lawrence Venuti and narrativity as rethought by Mona Baker Robinson offers a series of friendly amendments to both looking closely at specific translation histories Alex Matson to and from Finnish two English translations of Dostoevsky as well as theoretical models from Aristotle to Peirce to expand the range and power of these concepts In addition to translation and interpreting scholars this book will be of interest to scholars of communication and social interaction

Girls and Exclusion Audrey Osler, Kerry Vincent, 2003-12-16 The widespread view that girls are succeeding in education and are therefore not a problem is a myth By drawing directly on girls own accounts and experiences of school life and those of professionals working with disaffected youth this book offers startling new perspectives on the issue of exclusion and underachievement amongst girls This book demonstrates how the social and educational needs of girls and young women have slipped down the policy agenda in the UK and internationally Osler and Vincent argue for a re definition of school exclusion which covers the types of exclusion commonly experienced by girls such as truancy self exclusion or school dropout as a result of pregnancy Drawing on girls own ideas the authors make recommendations as to how schools might develop as more inclusive communities where the needs of both boys and girls are addressed equally The book is essential reading for postgraduate students teachers policy makers and LEA staff dedicated to genuine social and educational inclusion
