Stockton's Path to Bankruptcy Dennis Cochran,2019-08-21 Stockton's Path to Bankruptcy How our city government grabbed and abused power and partnered with the newspaper to mislead the community By Dennis Cochran Stockton California grew out of the Gold Rush of 1849 It became a thriving city through agriculture and manufacturing It boasts excellent schools and colleges and has a world renowned symphony and art museum But in July 2012 it was the largest American city to file for bankruptcy and currently is 8 on Forbes Most Dangerous Cities in America Stockton's Path to Bankruptcy is an insider look at how the city fell apart In 1993 Stockton won enterprise zone designation from the state government to be used to revitalize the depressed city center Dennis Cochran was one of several locals invited to submit an incentive idea He proposed a volunteer staffed graffiti cleanup program Cleaning graffiti is an easy cost effective way to discourage crime and promote beautification Initially encouraged by the enterprise zone Cochran soon learned that it was corrupt and mismanaged with unclear policies skyrocketing permit fees and local businesses bullied until they abandoned the center entirely Like many citizens Cochran was on the outside of the local government his offers of help ignored and his good advice rejected In just under twenty years Stockton's local government protected by a local newspaper destroyed the trust of its citizens Cochran chronicles every bureaucratic twist and depravity from the city losing 43 000 a day plundering public safety funds to finance a ballpark to stealing land from a local church Stockton didn't become bankrupt because of the financial bubble or housing crisis Stockton went bankrupt because of its public officials abuse of power and attitude of hostility towards the community Exposing mistakes acts as a disinfectant and Stockton's Path to Bankruptcy is a powerful aid to helping heal Stockton and serves as a warning to citizens of other cities

The Chinese Community of Stockton Sylvia Sun

Minnick,2002-03-19 Stockton referred to as Sam Fow by its Chinese community was the third largest metropolitan area leading to the goldfields of California at the turn of the 20th century The Chinese immigrants came from Kwangtung China to find their fortune and instead found a series of restrictive laws aimed at keeping them from participating in the development of the burgeoning frontier town Their story is here in over 200 vintage images of community life and resilience Despite legislation such as the Foreign Miners taxes and the California Alien Land Act and most recently the construction of the Crosstown Freeway combined with the redevelopment project that disseminated the heart of Chinatown the Chinese of this area were major contributors to California and Stockton's economy They have maintained a balance between their heritage of familial and religious obligations and western education and activities Included are photographs dating from the late 1920s of traditional Chinese associations and more recent community activities These images showcase once thriving businesses educational and religious efforts and familial milestones
