Stolen Life:

A Stolen Life Jaycee Dugard, 2012-07-03 A revelatory memoir about a young woman whose life was stolen when she was kidnapped in 1991 and remained an object of captivity for 18 years Auto/biography in Canada Julie Rak, 2009-08-02 Auto biography in Canada Critical Directions widens the field of auto biography studies with its sophisticated multidisciplinary perspectives on the theory criticism and practice of self community and representation Rather than considering autobiography and biography as discrete genres with definable properties and rather than focusing on critical approaches the essays explore auto biography as a discourse about identity and representation in the context of numerous disciplinary shifts Auto biography in Canada looks at how life narratives are made in Canada Originating from literary studies history and social work the essays in this collection cover topics that range from queer Canadian autobiography autobiography and autism and newspaper death notices as biography to Canadian autobiography and the Holocaust Grey Owl and authenticity France Thoret and autofiction and a new reading of Stolen Life the collaborative text by Yvonne Johnson and Rudy Wiebe Julie Rak's useful big picture introduction traces the history of auto biography studies in Canada While the contributors chart disciplinary shifts taking place in auto biography studies their essays are also part of the ongoing scholarship that is remaking ways to understand Canada Percy Shelley for Our Times Omar F. Miranda, Kate Singer, 2024-03-14 Two centuries after Percy Shelley's death his writings continue to resonate in remarkable ways Shelley addressed climate change women's liberation nonbinary gender and political protest while speaking to Indigenous queer trans disabled displaced and working class communities He still inspires artists and social justice movements around the world today Yet Percy Shelley for Our Times reveals an even more farsighted writer one whose poetic methodology went beyond the didactic powers of prophetic art Not historicist presentist or transhistorical Shelley for our times conceives worlds outside himself his poetry and his era envisioning how audiences connect and collaborate across space and time This collection revitalizes a writer once considered an adolescent of idealist protest showing how his interwoven poetics of relationality continually revisits the meaning of community and the contemporary This title is part of the Flip it Open programme and may also be available Open Access Check our website Cambridge Core for details Reading Practices, Postcolonial Literature, and Cultural Mediation in the Classroom Ingrid Johnston, Jyoti Mangat, 2012-03-24 In this book Johnston and Mangat consider ways in which particular postcolonial and multicultural literary texts are able to provide a space of cultural mediation for readers from various backgrounds The studies described in the five chapters of the book explore the spaces of convergence of identity culture and literature with students and teachers in high school contexts and undergraduates in university settings In each study readers are responding to texts that are culturally distant from their own literary and experiential histories An objective of each study was to consider the nature of the cultural locations of the reader and the text and the interstitial spaces between these locations The book interrogates readers' attempts to negotiate cultural difference in literary contexts and questions how this negotiation requires reading practices traditionally ignored in North American classrooms The book will offer educators at the secondary and post secondary levels rich material to draw upon for a rethinking of the school curriculum and will be of interest to scholars of postcolonial and literary studies Indigenous Women and Feminism Cheryl Suzack, Shari M. Huhndorf, Jeanne Perreault, Jean Barman, 2011-01-01 Can the specific concerns of Indigenous women be addressed within current mainstream feminist and post colonial discussions Indigenous Women and Feminism Politics Activism Culture proposes that a dynamic new line of inquiry Indigenous feminism is necessary to truly engage with the crucial issues of cultural identity nationalism and decolonization particular to Indigenous contexts Through the lenses of politics activism and culture the questions at the heart of this collection What is at stake in conceptualizing Indigenous feminism How does feminism relate to Indigenous claims to land and sovereignty What lessons can we learn from the past How do Indigenous women engage ongoing violence and social and political marginalization cross disciplinary national academic and activist boundaries to explore deeply the unique political and social positions of Indigenous women A vital and sophisticated discussion these timely essays will change the way we think about modern feminism and Indigenous women

The Unsociable Sociability of Women's Lifewriting A. Collett, L. D'Arcens, 2010-10-27 By investigating women lifewriters complex quest to distinguish themselves both within and from institutions and communities this volume uses Kant's concept of unsociable sociability to formulate a divided sense of self at the heart of women's lifewriting offering a provocative response to the notion of the relational female subject Is Canada Postcolonial? Laura Moss, 2009-08-01 How can postcolonialism be applied to Canadian literature In all that has been written about postcolonialism surprisingly little has specifically addressed the position of Canada Canadian literature or Canadian culture Postcolonialism is a theory that has gained credence throughout the world it is be productive to ask if and how we as Canadians participate in postcolonial debates It is also vital to examine the ways in which Canada and Canadian culture fit into global discussions as our culture reflects how we interact with our neighbours allies and adversaries This collection wrestles with the problems of situating Canadian literature in the ongoing debates about culture identity and globalization and of applying the slippery term of postcolonialism to Canadian literature The topics range in focus from discussions of specific literary works to general theoretical contemplations The twenty three articles in this collection grapple with the recurrent issues of postcolonialism including hybridity collaboration marginality power resistance and historical revisionism from the vantage point of those working within Canada as writers and critics While some seek to confirm the legitimacy of including Canadian literature in the discussions of postcolonialism others challenge this very notion The Bedtrick Wendy Doniger, 2022-08-22 Somehow I woke up one day and found myself in bed with a stranger Meant literally or figuratively this statement describes one of the best known plots in world mythology and popular storytelling In a tour that runs from Shakespeare to Hollywood and from Abraham Lincoln to Casanova the erudite and irrepressible Wendy Doniger shows us the variety danger and allure of the bedtrick or what it means to wake up with a stranger The Bedtrick brings together hundreds of stories from all over the world from the earliest recorded Hindu and Hebrew texts to the latest item in the Weekly World News to show the hilariously convoluted sexual scrapes that people manage to get themselves into and out of Here you will find wives who accidentally commit adultery with their own husbands You will read Lincoln s truly terrible poem about a bedtrick You will learn that in Hong Kong the film The Crying Game was retitled Oh No My Girlfriend Has a Penis And that President Clinton was not the first man to be identified by an idiosyncratic organ At the bottom of these wonderful stories ancient myths and historical anecdotes lie the dynamics of sex and gender power and identity Why can t people tell the difference in the dark Can love always tell the difference between one lover and another And what kind of truth does sex tell Funny sexy and engaging The Bedtrick is a masterful work of energetic storytelling and dazzling scholarship Give it to your spouse and your lover

The Secret to Liberation from Suffering Kassie Sambaraju, 2025-01-28 This new translation with extensive commentary of the S khya K rik Verses on S khya is one of the foundational text of the six stika schools of Hindu philosophy It is intended to provide readers with a literal unadorned English language version of S khya philosophy of Sage Kapila The book has an introductory essay on the key ideas and aims of S khya with explanatory notes on each verse Not only designed for general audience it can also be used as a study manual by Yoga instructors Both the translation and the analysis aim to convey the true substance and depth of the S khya philosophy from a practical actionable point of view using the vernacular of common experience The supreme object of desire of every human being is the cessation of du kha pain and suffering S khya is that secret to liberate an individual from suffering In S khya pleasure delight joy enjoyment and bliss reside in the absence of pain as Sattva quality of lightness Du kha is a duality in S khya and it nests in the qualities of Tamas as inertia and heaviness Through Rajas of taking action an individual can transform from the state of suffering to the state of lithe S khya inspired Patajali s Yoga system Both these systems are adhy tma vidy to acquire knowledge and learn about the internal Self and its manifestations S khya is a sam k a a complete investigation to maturely deliberate and reflect in order to acquire knowledge about the Self By discerning the causes and effects of suffering insights are gleaned An individual feels lighter by taking recourse This is Kaivalyam a perfectly isolated state of Mind Empowered with such knowledge Buddhi the Intellect is transformed and with that enlightenment the individual feels liberated The essential simplicity of this profound yet simple philosophy of liberation and universal love was committed into a written format in the third to fourth century CE by vara K a The Verses on S khya formalize and codify centuries of earlier philosophical thinking on liberation from suffering and the means to achieve it in a plain spoken manner In other translations and commentaries its insights have often been shrouded in inaccessible language and words The meticulous attention to the literal trail of meaning Sa sk t words maintains the integrity of this ancient text to generate an unembellished interpretation of the verses to convey the essence of S khya in its true

Swan Song John Galsworthy,2016-01-12 In Washington District of Columbia the Fall sun shone and all that was not evergreen or stone in Rock Creek Cemetery was glowing Before the Saint Gaudens statue Soames Forsyte sat on his overcoat with the marble screen to his back enjoying the seclusion and a streak of sunlight passaging between the cypresses With his daughter and her husband he had been up here

already the afternoon before and had taken a fancy to the place Apart from the general attraction of a cemetery this statue awakened the connoisseur within him Though not a thing you could acquire it was undoubtedly a work of art and produced a very marked effect He did not remember a statue that made him feel so thoroughly at home That great greenish bronze figure of seated woman within the hooding folds of her ample cloak seemed to carry him down to the bottom of his own soul Yesterday in the presence of Fleur Michael and other people all gaping like himself he had not so much noted the mood of the thing as its technical excellence but now alone he could enjoy the luxury of his own sensations Some called it Grief some The Adams Memorial He didn't know but in any case there it was the best thing he had come across in America the one that gave him the most pleasure in spite of all the water he had seen at Niagara and those skyscrapers in New York Three times he had changed his position on that crescent marble seat varying his sensations every time From his present position the woman had passed beyond grief She sat in a frozen acceptance deeper than death itself very remarkable There was something about death He remembered his own father James a quarter of an hour after death as if as if he had been told at last A red oak leaf fell on to his lapel another on to his knee Soames did not brush them off Easy to sit still in front of that thing They ought to make America sit there once a week

Children of Marx and Coca-Cola Xiaoping Lin, 2009-11-02 Children of Marx and Coca Cola affords a deep study of Chinese avant garde art and independent cinema from the mid 1990s to the beginning of the twenty first century Informed by the author's experience in Beijing and New York global cities with extensive access to an emergent transnational Chinese visual culture this work situates selected artworks and films in the context of Chinese nationalism and post socialism and against the background of the capitalist globalization that has so radically affected contemporary China It juxtaposes and compares artists and independent filmmakers from a number of intertwined perspectives particularly in their shared avant garde postures and perceptions Xiaoping Lin provides illuminating close readings of a variety of visual texts and artistic practices including installation performance painting photography video and film Throughout he sustains a theoretical discussion of representative artworks and films and succeeds in delineating a variegated postsocialist cultural landscape saturated by market forces confused values and lost faith This refreshing approach is due to Lin's ability to tackle both Chinese art and cinema rigorously within a shared discursive space He for example aptly conceptualizes a central thematic concern in both genres as postsocialist trauma aggravated by capitalist globalization By thus focusing exclusively on the two parallel and often intersecting movements or phenomena in the visual arts his work brings about a fruitful dialogue between the narrow field of traditional art history and visual studies more generally Children of Marx and Coca Cola will be a major contribution to China studies art history film studies and cultural studies Multiple audiences specialists teachers and students in these disciplines as well as general readers with an interest in contemporary Chinese society and culture will find that this work fulfills an urgent need for sophisticated analysis of China's cultural production as it assumes a key role in capitalist globalization

Sex. Drugs. God Dmitrii Sherembey, 2018-01-01 illustrations by N Kravtsov In his book Sex drugs god Dmitrii Sherembey brings up the most sensitive topics for modern societies that are being silenced and rarely come out in the field of public discussion Why do people get AIDS Why legalize sex work Why people who use drugs should not be punished Why euthanasia should become the inalienable right for everyone suffering from unbearable pain People need the good to be the driver of our decisions with no need to evaluate the motifs of our actions

Rethinking settler colonialism Annie Coombes, 2017-03-01 Rethinking settler colonialism focuses on the long history of contact between indigenous peoples and the white colonial communities who settled in Australia Aotearoa New Zealand Canada and South Africa It interrogates how histories of colonial settlement have been mythologised narrated and embodied in public culture in the twentieth century through monuments exhibitions and images and charts some of the vociferous challenges to such histories that have emerged over recent years Despite a shared familiarity with cultural and political institutions practices and policies amongst the white settler communities the distinctiveness which marked these constituencies as variously Australian South African Canadian or New Zealander was fundamentally contingent upon their relationship to and with the various indigenous communities they encountered In each of these countries these communities were displaced marginalised and sometimes subjected to attempted genocide through the colonial process Recently these groups have renewed their claims for greater political representation and autonomy The essays and artwork in this book insist that an understanding of the political and cultural institutions and practices which shaped settler colonial societies in the past can provide important insights into how this legacy of unequal rights can be contested in the present It will be of interest to those studying the effects of colonial powers on indigenous populations and the legacies of imperial rule in postcolonial societies

Idylls of Busy Life David Sinclair, 1904 From the Iron House Deena Rymhs, 2014-01-07 In From the Iron House Imprisonment in First Nations Writing Deena Rymhs identifies continuities between the residential school and the prison offering ways of reading the carceral that is the different ways that incarceration is constituted and articulated in contemporary Aboriginal literature Addressing the work of writers like Tomson Highway and Basil Johnston

along with that of lesser known authors writing in prison serials and underground publications this book emphasizes the literary and political strategies these authors use to resist the containment of their institutions The first part of the book considers a diverse sample of writing from prison serials prisoners anthologies and individual autobiographies including Stolen Life by Rudy Wiebe and Yvonne Johnson to show how these works serve as second hearings for their authors an opportunity to respond to the law s authority over their personal and public identities while making a plea to a wider audience The second part looks at residential school narratives and shows how the authors construct identities for themselves in ways that defy the institution s control The interactions between these two bodies of writing residential school accounts and prison narratives invite recognition of the ways that guilt is colonially constructed and how these authors use their writing to distance themselves from that guilt Offering new ways of reading Native writing From the Iron House is a pioneering study of prison literature in Canada and situates its readings within international criticism of prison writing Contributing to genre studies and theoretical understandings of life writing and covering a variety of social topics this work will be relevant to readers interested in indigenous studies Canadian cultural studies postcolonial studies auto biography studies law and public policy
