Commemorating the Irish Famine Emily Mark-FitzGerald,2015-02-05 Commemorating the Irish Famine Memory and the Monument explores the history of the 1840s Irish Famine in visual representation commemoration and collective memory from the 19th century until the present across Ireland and the nations of its diaspora explaining why since the 1990s the Famine past has come to matter so much in our present Development & Character of Gothic Architecture Charles Herbert Moore,1899 Indianapolis William Robeson Holloway,1870 *Indianapolis. Seven lamps of architecture, Lectures, Study of architecture John Ruskin,1894 The Works of John Ruskin John Ruskin,1885 Lectures on architecture and painting, delivered at Edmburgh, in November, 1853 John Ruskin,1884 The Works of John Ruskin: The seven lamps of architecture. Lectures on architecture and painting, delivered at Edinburgh in November, 1853. An inquiry into some of the conditions at present affecting "The study of architecture in our schools" John Ruskin,1889 Lectures on Architecture and Painting John Ruskin,2016-08-21 The following Lectures are printed as far as possible just as they were delivered Here and there a sentence which seemed obscure has been mended and the passages which had not been previously written have been of course imperfectly supplied from memory But I am well assured that nothing of any substantial importance which was said in the lecture room is either omitted or altered in its signification with the exception only of a few sentences struck out from the notice of the works of Turner in consequence of the impossibility of engraving the drawings by which they were illustrated except at a cost which would have too much raised the price of the volume Some elucidatory remarks have however been added at the close of the second and fourth Lectures which I hope may be of more use than the passages which I was obliged to omit The drawings by which the Lectures on Architecture were illustrated have been carefully reduced and well transferred to wood by Mr Thurston Thompson Those which were given in the course of the notices of schools of painting could not be so transferred having been drawn in color and I have therefore merely had a few lines absolutely necessary to make the text intelligible copied from engravings I forgot in preparing the second Lecture for the press to quote a passage from Lord Lindsay s Christian Art illustrative of what is said in that lecture 52 respecting the energy of the medieval republics This passage describing the circumstances under which the Campanile of the Duomo of Florence was built is interesting also as noticing the universality of talent which was required of architects and which as I have asserted in the Addenda 60 always ought to be required of them I do not however now regret the omission as I cannot easily imagine a better preface to an essay on civil architecture than this simple statement Works John Ruskin,1887

Poetry of architecture John Ruskin,1886 Lectures on Architecture and Painting John Ruskin,1854 Building Adaptation James Douglas,2006 Introduction Feasibility Principles of Building Conversion Adaptive fuses Lateral extensions Vertical extensions Structural alterations Principles of refurbishment Further aspects of refurbishment Sustainable adaptation Implementation Appendices Northwold Manor Reborn Warwick Rodwell,2024-08-15 Presents a fascinating superbly illustrated account by one of the UK's leading architectural historians of the history dereliction and restoration of a complex originally Tudor manor house Northwold Manor is a multi period listed building grade II about which almost nothing was known Uninhabited since 1955 it had fallen into a state of extreme dereliction and was beyond economic repair when the author purchased the property in 2014 He and his wife Diane Gibbs embarked on a major restoration that ran for nine years The restoration was carried out as a quasi archaeological operation revealing that the building complex had Tudor origins followed by the construction of a Stuart house with Georgian improvements and a new entertaining suite added in 1814 The Manor with its fine drawing room ballroom and orangery was the grandest house in Northwold and research into the families that occupied it revealed unexpected connections to the French Bourbon Court From the 17th to the 20th century the Carters were the principal owners and a local branch of the family included Howard Carter discoverer of Tutankhamen's tomb This account begins with a topographical study of Northwold and its three medieval manors followed by an exploration of the decline of the Carter family in the late 19th century That triggered the break up of the Northwold Estate in 1919 Passing through several ownerships the Manor was earmarked for demolition in 1961 reprieved it became a furniture store in the 1970s and every room was solidly packed As the roofs failed and water poured in ceilings and floors collapsed carrying with them the stacks of rotting furniture By the late 1990s walls and gables were collapsing too and the local authority attempted to intervene A long struggle to save the Manor ensued finally ending with compulsory purchase in 2013 Although manor houses occur in most English parishes they have received surprisingly little archaeological study Every year hundreds are restored or altered but rarely accompanied by detailed recording or scholarly research and popular television programs reveal the shameful level of destruction that takes place in the name of restoration This is a book like no other the holistic approach to the rehabilitation of Northwold's derelict manor house involving history archaeology architecture and genealogy demonstrates how much can be learned about a building that had never before been studied The project has received several awards History of Leitersburg District, Washington County, Maryland Herbert C.
