Clamor of the Lake Mohamed El-Bisatie, 2009-01-15 Clamor of the Lake begins with the appearance of an old fisherman of unknown origin sailing a black boat Taciturn and enigmatic he takes on a woman and her twin boys While he gives away nothing about his past his undemanding companionship prompts the woman to narrate her turbulent life Meanwhile in a nearby village by the lake Gomaa and his wife have found respite from the dreariness of their existence in the fantastic objects the sea churns up during gales a sword alluring panties a talisman But when the waves cast up a chest that speaks in a language no one can comprehend Gomaa is haunted by its voice As the tumult of the lake drives a wedge between the couple it turns two neighbors into close allies Karawia a caf proprietor and Afifi a grocer Eventually they too will be haunted by the siren song of the lake In Mohamed El Bisatie's lyrical novel the stories of these various figures converge on the mercurial presence of the lake which in the end proves the narrative's true hero An accomplished experiment in the poetics of space Clamor of the Lake won the 1995 Cairo International Book Fair Award for Best Novel of the Year Publisher description

Wedding Night Yusuf Abu Rayya, 2015-03 In a small town in the Nile Delta lives Houda the deaf and mute butcher's apprentice Revealing the town's private stories through public sign language Houda articulates the unspoken and the forbidden to unsettle the apparent quietude of rural society But his own unrestrained desire threatens to scandalize the town and rock its codes of public behavior When it is reported that he has violated the sanctity of his employer's own house the whole town with the butcher and Shaykh Saadoun the pretending Sufi in the lead rises to avenge itself and publicly humiliate and ridicule Houda The elaborate ruse planned by the butcher and the shaykh playing on Houda's hopes dreams and fantasies is foolproof but while Houda may be a dreamer he is certainly no fool This original satiric novel introducing the reader to every public and private corner in the life of a small town is both a daring critique of contemporary Egyptian reality and a thoroughly good read a remarkable novel of sustained carnivalesque suspense and wicked black humor that marks the arrival of a true literary talent

The Other Place Ibrahim Abdel Meguid, 2006-09-01 The Other Place portrays the shallowness of the petrodollar culture and the price one pays for quick money The protagonist of this prize winning novel an educated middle class Egyptian from Alexandria describes his experiences and those of migrant workers and professionals in one of the Gulf states and their interaction with the oil rich country's local elite and with agents of western businesses The book pictures rather than states the desolation brought about when market values take over and the ravages that such an order causes to all who partake in it Ibrahim Abdel Meguid succeeds in representing imaginatively the important phenomenon of migration and the barren landscape of the petrodollar culture and at the same time penetrates the rationalizing mechanisms of the migrants and their psychological make up

The Other Place was awarded the Naguib Mahfouz Medal for Literature in 1996

Nile Sparrows Ibrahim Aslan, 2009 Set in the author's own Nile side neighborhood of Warraq Aslan's second novel the first to be translated and published in English chronicles the daily rhythm of life of rural migrants to Cairo and their complex webs of familial and neighborly relations over half a century It opens with the mysterious disappearance of the tiny grandmother Hanem who is over 100 years old and is last seen by her daughter in law Dalal Dalal does not have the heart to tell Hanem that her grown children Nargis and Abdel Reheem have both been dead for some time Her grandson Mr Abdalla who has children of his own and not a few flecks of gray in his hair reluctantly sets out for their home village to search for her embarking on a bittersweet odyssey into his family's past and a confrontation with his own aging In an elliptical narrative Aslan limns a series of vignettes that mimic the workings of memory moving backward and forward in time and held together by a series of recurrent figures and images There is Abdalla's father the tragic al Bahey Uthman his quirky and earthy uncle Abdel Reheem and his sweet mother Nargis who dies with her simplest desires unfulfilled Aslan's moving portrait of the quotidian dramas that constitute the lives of ordinary Egyptians is untainted by populist pretensions or belittling romanticism and full of the humor and heartbreaking pathos that have become trademarks of the author's style

Morning and Evening Talk Najib Mahfuz, 2007 A late work by the Egyptian Nobel literature laureate Morning and Evening Talk is an epic tale of Egyptian life over five generations Set in Cairo it traces the fortunes of three families from the arrival of Napoleon at the end of the eighteenth century to the 1980s using short character sketches arranged in alphabetical order This highly experimental device produces a kind of biographical dictionary whose individual entries come together to paint a vivid portrait of life in Cairo from a range of different perspectives The characters include representatives of every class and human type and as the intricate family saga unfolds a powerful picture of a society in transition and the accompanying upheaval emerges This is a tale of change and continuity of the death of a traditional way of life of the road to independence and beyond seen through the eyes of Egypt's citizens Naguib Mahfouz's last chronicle of Cairo is an elegy to a bygone era and a tribute to the Egyptian spirit It is also one of his most technically innovative contributions to the Arabic novel

Last Chapter Leila Abouzeid, 2003-02-01 This thought provoking semi autobiographical book tells the story of Aisha a young Moroccan woman and her struggle to find an identity in the Morocco of the second half of the twentieth century Charting Aisha's path through adolescence and young adulthood up to the present her story is told through a series of flashbacks anecdotes and glimpses of the past all bound up with a strong often strident always compelling worldview that takes in Morocco its politics people and traditions Islam and marriage Male female relationships feature strongly in the narrative and by exposing us to Aisha's troubled romantic encounters Abouzeid uncovers the shifting male female roles within the Morocco of her lifetime Many aspects of Moroccan society are also explored through the other clashes of the modern and the traditional in Aisha's life. The workplace and corruption, the struggle for women's rights, the clash between Islamic and Western values, as well as with the older practices of sorcery and witchcraft, and the conflict between colonial and native language use are all intertwined in a narrative that is both forceful and often poetic. Through a series of tales of emotional disasters, the reader becomes aware not only of Aisha's frustrations but also of her deep commitment to her country and her struggle to defeat suffering, uphold justice, and retain a fierce independence as a woman and a clarity of conviction in her life. Leila Abouzeid is a pioneer among her Moroccan contemporaries in that she writes in Arabic rather than in French and is the first Moroccan woman writer of literature to be translated into English. This stimulating and revealing book adds a new perspective to Maghrebi women's writing and is an important addition to the growing body of Arab women's writing in translation.
