Untangling Terrorism from Religion: A Deeper Look into the Roots of Violent Extremism Sarwat Parvez,2025-06-08 Terrorism has long haunted modern societies capturing the attention of governments media outlets and the public alike In the rush to explain the inexplicable many turn to religion as the root cause But this simplistic and often biased interpretation overlooks the true complexity behind acts of terror Terrorism is not born from faith alone it is deeply entangled with political social and psychological conditions No single religion has a monopoly on violence and framing terrorism as inherently religious only hinders our understanding and our ability to respond effectively

Telling Stories Mary Jo Maynes,Jennifer L. Pierce,Barbara Laslett,2012-09-15 In Telling Stories Mary Jo Maynes Jennifer L Pierce and Barbara Laslett argue that personal narratives autobiographies oral histories life history interviews and memoirs are an important research tool for understanding the relationship between people and their societies Gathering examples from throughout the world and from premodern as well as contemporary cultures they draw from labor history and class analysis feminist sociology race relations and anthropology to demonstrate the value of personal narratives for scholars and students alike Telling Stories explores why and how personal narratives should be used as evidence and the methods and pitfalls of their use The authors stress the importance of recognizing that stories that people tell about their lives are never simply individual Rather they are told in historically specific times and settings and call on rules models and social experiences that govern how story elements link together in the process of self narration Stories show how individuals motivations emotions and imaginations have been shaped by their cumulative life experiences In turn Telling Stories demonstrates how the knowledge produced by personal narrative analysis is not simply contained in the stories told the understanding that takes place between narrator and analyst

and between analyst and audience enriches the results immeasurably

Worlds at War Anthony Pagden, 2008-03-25 Spanning two and a half millennia Anthony Pagden's mesmerizing Worlds at War delves deep into the roots of the clash of civilizations between East and West that has always been a battle over ideas and whose issues have never been more urgent Worlds At War begins in the ancient world where Greece saw its fight against the Persian Empire as one between freedom and slavery between monarchy and democracy between individuality and the worship of men as gods Here richly rendered are the crucial battle of Marathon considered the turning point of Greek and European history the heroic attempt by the Greeks to turn the Persians back at Thermopylae and Salamis one of the greatest naval battles of all time which put an end to the Persian threat forever From there Pagden's story sweeps to Rome which created the modern concepts of citizenship and the rule of law Rome's leaders believed those they conquered to be free while the various peoples of the East persisted in seeing their subjects as property Pagden dramatizes the birth of Christianity in the East and its use in the West as an instrument of government setting the stage for what would become and has remained a global battle of the secular against the sacred Then Islam at first ridiculed in Christian Europe drives Pope Urban II to launch the Crusades which transform the relationship between East and West into one of competing religious beliefs Modern times bring a first world war which among its many murky aims seeks to redesign the Muslim world by force In our own era Muslims now find themselves in unwelcoming Western societies while the West seeks to enforce democracy and its own secular values through occupation in the East Pagden ends on a cautionary note warning that terrorism and war will continue as long as sacred and secular remain confused in the minds of so many Eye opening and compulsively readable Worlds at War is a stunning work of history and a triumph of modern scholarship It is bound to become the definitive work on the reasons behind the age old and still escalating struggle that more than any other has come to define the modern world a book for anyone seeking to know why we came to be the way we are

Sinbad the Sailor Phil Masters, 2014-09-20 This book retells the story of Sinbad the Sailor and recounts tales of the voyages on which he acquired his wealth of the strange peoples and monsters he encountered along the way and of lands beyond the horizon It places the fiction of Sinbad popularised in the collection of stories known as the Arabian Nights into the context of medieval Cairo where these tales were originally told By retracing the history of these stories and the Arabian voyages of exploration and trade which inspired them and by examining modern incarnations of Sinbad that have appeared since his stories reached the West this book breathes new life into these ancient tales of adventure magic and mystery

The Arabian Mission's Story Lewis R. Scudder, 1998 Volume 30 recounts the eighty year long history of the RCA's mission work in the Middle East written by a missionary who has spent decades in the Arabian Gulf Including instructive discussion of missiological themes as well as the narrative of the church's daily work in Arabia this volume is not only of denominational interest but will also provide important insights for mission students and those actively involved in a mission field

TEDified Islam Jasbeer Musthafa Mamalipurath, 2024-07-29 This book represents one of the initial comprehensive studies of TED Talks on Islam It situates TED Talks on Islam as postsecular secular's renewed interest in faith discourse and asks how TED represents and narrates Islam It also examines the perspectives of both Muslim and non Muslim TED viewers about TED's storytelling strategies as well as on the platform. Finally, the book studies the features of the authority that both Muslim and non-Muslim TED speakers embody as spokespersons of Islam. By doing so, this book offers an empirical and context-oriented understanding of postsecular storytelling by problematising the secular translations of Islam. Stories of Democracy Mary Ann Tétreault, 2000. A sophisticated investigation of the shifting tides of democratic governance in modern Kuwait from 1921 to the present based on interviews both with political activists and members of the political elite. Stories of Democracy sheds light on a wide array of issues concerning Middle Eastern politics and democratic institutions in general. Mary Ann Tétreault explores how various political factions have sought to advance their own notions of Kuwaiti history and politics through distinctive popular appeals: 1. pro-democracy forces focusing on Kuwait's relationship to the universal values of the democratic world around them and 2. anti-democrats proffering Arab and Muslim religious and cultural traditions. She explores how such dramatic events as the suspension of the Kuwaiti constitution in 1986 and the invasion by Iraq in 1990 occasioned major shifts in the course of the democracy movement. The current running through virtually all of the nation's political drama is the monolithic Kuwait Petroleum Corporation (KPC) used by the government as an instrument of economic strength to safeguard sovereignty in the absence of military might.
