Queer Environmentality Robert Azzarello, 2016-04-15

Offering a model for meaningful dialogue between queer studies and environmental studies Robert Azzarello's book traces a queer environmental lineage in American Romantic and post Romantic literature Azzarello challenges the notion that reading environmental literature is unsatisfying in terms of aesthetics and proposes an understanding of literary environmentalism that is rich in poetic complexity With the term queer environmentality Azzarello points towards a queer sensibility in the history of environmental literature to balance the dominant narrative that reading environmental literature is tantamount to witnessing a spectacular dramatization of heterosexual teleology Azzarello's study treats four key figures in the American literary tradition Henry David Thoreau Herman Melville Willa Cather and Djuna Barnes Each of these writers problematizes conventional notions of the strange matrix between the human the natural and the sexual They brilliantly demonstrate the ways in which the queer project and the environmental project are always connected or put another way show that questions and politics of human sexuality are always entwined with those associated with the other than human world

Cather and Opera David McKay Powell, 2022-05-18 Throughout her fiction Willa Cather mentioned forty seven operas References to opera appear in all but three of her twelve novels and in roughly half of her short stories Despite a dearth of musical education Cather produced astute writing about the genre beginning in her earliest criticism and continuing throughout her career She counted opera stars among her close friends and according to Edith Lewis her companion throughout adulthood the two women frequently visited the theater even in the early days when purchasing tickets to attend performances proved a financial sacrifice Melding cultural history with thoughtful readings of her works and discussions of opera's complex place in turn of the century America David McKay Powell's Cather and Opera offers the first book length study of what drew the writer so powerfully and repeatedly to the art form With close attention to Cather's fiction and criticism Powell posits that at the heart of both her work and the operatic corpus dwells an innate tension between high artistic ideals and popular acceptance often figured as a clash between compositional integrity and raw personal emotion Considering her connection to opera in both historical and intertextual terms Cather and Opera investigates what operatic references mean in Cather's writing along with what the opera represented to her throughout her life

Art Matters Robert Paul Lamb, 2011-02-18 In Art Matters Robert Paul Lamb provides the definitive study of Ernest Hemingway's short story aesthetics Lamb locates Hemingway's art in literary historical contexts and explains what he learned from earlier artists including Edgar Allan Poe Paul C zanne Henry James Guy de Maupassant Anton Chekhov Stephen Crane Gertrude Stein James Joyce and Ezra Pound Examining how Hemingway developed this inheritance Lamb insightfully charts the evolution of the unique style and innovative techniques that would forever change the nature of short fiction Art Matters opens with an analysis of the authorial effacement Hemingway learned from Maupassant and Chekhov followed by fresh perspectives on the author's famous use of concision and omission Redefining literary impressionism and expressionism as alternative modes for depicting modern consciousness Lamb demonstrates how Hemingway and Willa Cather learned these techniques from Crane and made them the foundation of their respective aesthetics After examining the development of Hemingway's art of focalization he clarifies what Hemingway really learned from Stein and delineates their different uses of repetition Turning from techniques to formal elements Art Matters anatomizes Hemingway's story openings and endings analyzes how he created an entirely unprecedented role for fictional dialogue explores his methods of characterization and categorizes his settings in the fifty-three stories that comprise his most important work in the genre A major contribution to Hemingway scholarship and to the study of modernist fiction Art Matters shows exactly how Hemingway's craft functions and argues persuasively for the importance of studies of articulated technique to any meaningful understanding of fiction and literary history The book also develops vital new ways of understanding the short story genre as Lamb constructs a critical apparatus for analyzing the short story introduces to a larger audience ideas taken from practicing storywriters theorists and critics and coins new terms and concepts that enrich our understanding of the field

Marriage, Violence and the Nation in the American Literary West William R. Handley, 2002-08-15 In Marriage Violence and the Nation in the American Literary West William R Handley examines literary interpretations of the Western American past Handley argues that although scholarship provides a narrative of western history that counters optimistic story of frontier individualism by focusing on the victims of conquest twentieth century American fiction tells a different story of intra ethnic violence surrounding marriages and families He examines works of historiography as well as writing by Zane Grey Willa Cather Wallace Stegner and Joan Didion among others to argue that these works highlight white Americans anxiety about what happens to American character when domestic enemies such as Indians and Mormon polygamists against whom the nation had defined itself in the nineteenth century no longer threaten its homes Handley explains that once its enemies are gone imperialism brings violence home in retrospective narratives that allegorise national pasts and futures through intimate relationships beyond narratives centered on little magazines and other institutions of modernism that served narrow audiences And for the writers the double life of working for these magazines shaped modernism s literary form and created new models of authorship

Novels and Essays Frank Norris, Donald Pizer, 1986 Vol 33 Cather Among the Moderns Janis P. Stout, 2019-03-19 A masterful study by a preeminent scholar that situates Cather as a visionary practitioner of literary modernism. Willa Cather is often pegged as a regionalist, a feminine and domestic writer, or a social realist. In Cather Among the Moderns, Janis P. Stout firmly situates Cather as a visionary practitioner of literary modernism, something other scholars have hinted at but rarely affirmed. Stout presents Cather on a large dramatic stage among a sizable cast of characters and against a brightly lit social and historical backdrop, invoking numerous figures and instances from the broad movement in the arts and culture that we call modernism. Early on, Stout addresses the matter of gender. The term cross-dresser has often been applied to Cather, but Stout sees Cather's identity as fractured or ambiguous, a reading that links her firmly to early twentieth-century modernity. Later chapters take up topics of significance both to Cather and to twentieth-century American modernists, including shifting gender roles, World War I's devastation of social and artistic norms, and strains in racial relations. She explores Cather's links to a small group of modernists who, after the war, embraced life in New Mexico, a destination of choice for many artists and which led to two of Cather's most fully realized modernist novels, The Professor's House and Death Comes for the Archbishop. The last chapter addresses Cather's place within modernism. Stout first places her in relation to Ezra Pound and T. S. Eliot, with their shared ties to tradition even while making sometimes startling innovations in literary form, then showing parallels with William Faulkner with respect to economic disparity and social injustice. May Swenson: Collected Poems (LOA #239) May Swenson, 2013-04-04 Often compared to the works of E. E. Cummings and Elizabeth Bishop, these poems are a free-ranging exploration of outer and inner worlds of nature and the human mind. In celebration of the centenary of May Swenson's birth, The Library of America presents a one-volume edition of all of the poems that Swenson published in her lifetime, from her first collection, Another Animal (1954), to the innovative shaped poems of Iconographs (1970) to her final work, In Other Words (1987), as well as a selection of previously uncollected work. The collection reveals the sweeping compass of Swenson's curiosity; nature poems display her keen observation of wildlife, exuberant and erotic love poems celebrate beauty and passion, place poems record her travels to the American Southwest, France, and Italy, and her residence in New York City and Sea Cliff, Long Island. Verse analyses investigate baseball, wave motion, the DNA molecule, bronco busting, James Bond movies, and the first walk on the moon. Swenson was an inveterate reviser; poems in earlier volumes were frequently reworked for inclusion in later volumes, such as To Mix with Time (1963) and New and Selected Things Taking Place (1978). While preserving the order of publication, this volume presents the author's final or definitive version. Substantive textual variants and title changes are detailed in the notes to the volume LIBRARY OF AMERICA is an independent nonprofit cultural organization founded in 1979 to preserve our nation's literary heritage by publishing and keeping permanently in print America's best and most significant writing The Library of America series includes more than 300 volumes to date authoritative editions that average 1,000 pages in length feature cloth covers sewn bindings and ribbon markers and are printed on premium acid-free paper that will last for centuries
