1994 1998 The Observatory was a consortium of 13 member countries of the European Union serving as a European network of researchers and educators in the field of comparative education The Observatory formulated several major tasks that guided its work from 1994 to 1998 1 gathering and analyzing information about innovation and the conditions of change 2 identifying key ways of innovation dissemination 3 networking innovators and facilitating innovations at the European level 4 clarifying national innovation policies and 5 sharing and distributing conceptual information and knowledge about educational innovations Within the Observatory an educational innovation was analyzed as a novelty a product a change an action a process and an intention Innovation was defined as a collective creation of original solutions responding to needs The research done in the Observatory revealed profound differences in the use and understanding of the notion of innovation in different countries Innovation was often replaced by a close synonym such as change development or reform to reflect different historical sociological or political patterns of thought implemented in different European countries Contains 4 tables 86 references and 200 endnotes Author SLD Technology and Culture ,1996 Science and Culture in Europe

Jean-Marc Lévy-Leblond, John Durant, Jane Gregory, 1993 Turkish Immigrants in Western Europe and North America Sebnem Koser Akcapar, 2013-09-13 Public and even scholarly debates usually focus on the integration problems of Muslim immigrants at the cost of overlooking the role of the growing number of migrant organizations in establishing a crucial link among immigrants themselves as well as between them and their countries of origin and residence This book aims to fill a gap in the vast literature on migration from Turkey by contributing the neglected aspect of civic and political participation of Turkish immigrants It brings together a number of scholars who carried out extensive research on the associational culture of Turkish immigrants living in different countries in Europe and North America In order to understand the diversity and dynamics within Turkish migrant communities living in these parts of the world yet maintaining transnational ties this book offers a comparative and interdisciplinary approach to migrant organizations in general and civic participation and political mobilization of Turkish immigrants in particular This book was published as a special issue in Turkish Studies The Future of Industry in the Global Context: Education ,1993 European Heritage, Dialogue and Digital Practices Areti Galani, Rhiannon Mason, Gabi Arrigoni, 2019-07-09 European Heritage Dialogue and Digital Practices focuses on the intersection of heritage dialogue and digital culture in the context of Europe Responding to the increased emphasis on the potential for heritage and digital technologies to foster dialogue and engender communitarian identities in Europe the book explores what kind of role digital tools platforms and practices play in supporting and challenging dialogue about heritage in the region Drawing on fieldwork involving several European museums and heritage organisations the chapters in this volume critically engage with the role of digital technology in heritage work and its association with ideas of democratisation multivocality and possibilities for feedback and dialogic engagement in the emerging digital public sphere The book also provides a framework for understanding dialogue in relation to other commonly used approaches in heritage institutions such as participation engagement and intercultural exchange The authors map out the complex landscape of digitally mediated heritage practices in Europe both official and unofficial by capturing three distinct areas of practice perceptions and applications of digitally mediated dialogues around heritage within European museums and cultural policy facilitation of dialogue between European museums and communities through participatory design approaches and non official mobilisation of heritage on social media European Heritage Dialogue and Digital Practices will be of interest to both scholars and students in the fields of heritage and museum studies digital heritage media studies and communication the digital humanities sociology and memory studies The book will also appeal to policy makers and professionals working in a variety of different fields Cultural Interactions in Europe and the Eastern Mediterranean During the Bronze Age (3000-500 BC) European Association of Archaeologists. Meeting,2001 Any attempt to understand present day European societies and a possible European identity must include an historical perspective Many of the phenomena on the road from the Stone Age to urbanization and the Cities of tomorrow affecting Europe and its development between c 3000 and 500 BC appeared first in southeastern Mediterranean Europe in the Aegean area influenced by the cultures in the Eastern Mediterranean such as Anatolia Egypt and the Levant These seven papers from a session of the European Association of Archaeologists in Lisbon in 2000 focus on how these impulses were transmitted what forms of interaction led to their spread and acceptance and why certain societies did not accept them In Context Stephen H. Cutcliffe, Robert C. Post, 1989

Entrepreneurship, Cooperation and the Firm J. M. Ulijn, Dominique Drillon, Frank Lasch, 2007 This book discusses the critical challenges faced by the European Union linked to its capacity to master economic social and environmental change focusing in particular on the issues of emergence and survival of technology and knowledge based firms Technology Supported Innovations in School Education Pedro Isaias, Demetrios G.
