1966-1969 Michael Schoenhals, 1996-08-28 Mao Zedong launched the Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution thirty years ago. This important new documentary history of that calamitous event presents a selection of key primary documents many of which are made available here for the first time dealing with the Cultural Revolution's massive and bloody assault on China's political and social systems. Comprehensive in scope, this detailed work covers inter alia the launching of the movement, the Red Guards, the inquisition of party members accused of taking the capitalist road, and the devastating impact of these events on traditional culture, the economy, and China's national defense. Offers a section of recollections by victims and perpetrators, enhances the documents with detailed commentary, a chronology, biographies, and photographs. The A to Z of the Chinese Cultural Revolution Jian Guo, Yongyi Song, Yuan Zhou, 2009. There has never been anything quite like the Cultural Revolution which disrupted life in the People's Republic of China from 1966 to 1976. It wreaked havoc in the world's most populous country, often turning life upside down and undermining the party government and army, weakening the economy, society, and culture. Tens of millions were hurt or killed during this period, and relatively few benefited, aside from Mao Zedong and temporarily the Gang of Four. The A to Z of the Chinese Cultural Revolution provides an extensive chronology that traces the events of the revolution, and the introduction puts those events in context and explains them. The bulk of the information is provided in numerous dictionary entries on important persons, places, institutions, and movements. The bibliography points to further resources, and the glossary helps those researching in Chinese. Book Jacket

Using original sources, this significant text looks at the transformation of Chinese medicine from a marginal side-lined medical practice of the early twentieth century to an essential and high-profile part of the national health care system under the Chinese Communist Party. The political, economic, and social motives which drove this promotion are analyzed, and the extraordinary role that Chinese medicine was meant to play in Mao Zedong's revolution is fully explored for the first time, making a major contribution to the history of Chinese medicine. The

Cultural Revolution Frank Dikötter, 2017-06-06. The concluding volume following Mao's Great Famine and The Tragedy of Liberation in Frank Dikötter's award-winning trilogy chronicling the Communist revolution in China. After the economic disaster of the Great Leap Forward that claimed tens of millions of lives from 1958 1962 an aging Mao Zedong launched an ambitious scheme to shore up his reputation and eliminate those he viewed as a threat to his legacy The Cultural Revolution's goal was to purge the country of bourgeois capitalistic elements he claimed were threatening genuine communist ideology Young students formed the Red Guards vowing to defend the Chairman to the death but soon rival factions started fighting each other in the streets with semiautomatic weapons in the name of revolutionary purity As the country descended into chaos the military intervened turning China into a garrison state marked by bloody purges that crushed as many as one in fifty people The Cultural Revolution A People's History 1962 1976 draws for the first time on hundreds of previously classified party documents from secret police reports to unexpurgated versions of leadership speeches After the army itself fell victim to the Cultural Revolution ordinary people used the political chaos to resurrect the market and hollow out the party's ideology By showing how economic reform from below was an unintended consequence of a decade of violent purges and entrenched fear The Cultural Revolution casts China's most tumultuous era in a wholly new light

Communist Judicial System in China, 1927-1976 Qiang Fang, 2025-10-01 Drawing on hundreds of newly released judicial archives and court cases this book analyzes the communist judicial system in China from its founding period to the death of Mao Zedong It argues that the communist judicial system was built when the CCP was engaged in a life or death struggle with the GMD meaning that the overriding aim of the judicial system was from the outset to safeguard the Party against both internal and external adversaries This fundamental insecurity and perennial fear of loss of power obsessed the Party throughout the era of Mao and beyond prompting it to launch numerous political campaigns which forced communist judicial cadres to choose between upholding basic legal norms and maintaining Party order In doing all of this The Communist Judicial System in China 1927-1976 Building on Fear fills a major lacuna in our understanding of communist era China

Disenfranchised Joel Andreas, 2019 In the decades following World War II factories in many countries not only provided secure employment and a range of economic entitlements but also recognized workers as legitimate stakeholders enabling them to claim rights to participate in decision making and hold factory leaders accountable In recent decades as employment has become more precarious these attributes of industrial citizenship have been eroded and workers have increasingly been reduced to hired hands As Joel Andreas shows in Disenfranchised no country has experienced these changes as dramatically as China Drawing on a decade of field research including interviews with both factory workers and managers Andreas traces the changing political status of workers inside Chinese factories from 1949 to the present carefully analyzing how much power they have actually had to shape their working conditions Mao Philip Short, 2001-02 Short's masterful assessment informed by secret documents recently found in China provides an up close look at Mao Tse tung the colossal figure whose shadow will dominate into the 21st century of photos 4 maps Chinese Macrosecuritization Juha A. Vuori, 2023-11-10 This book provides a holistic picture of Chinese global security discourses with a focus on macrosecritizations The work examines how the People's Republic of China (PRC) has aligned itself within global security discourses. This is approached through the theory of securitization specifically by using the notion of macrosecuritization as the lens for its analysis. The book offers the first full account of Chinese macrosecuritization discourses and alignments and it aims to discern what security speech with referent objects such as humanity, civilization, or nature has done in the domestic and international politics of China. Specifically, the work focuses on the discourses of the Cold War, anti-nuclear weapons, climate change, and the Global War on Terror, which have all been postulated in the literature as macrosecuritizations. In addition, it examines discourses with global referent objects that have been put forth by the PRC so that we can see whether its proposals for global security governance take the form of or are legitimated through macrosecuritization. The overall argument in the book is that the way contemporary China uses macrosecuritization discourses provides for ontological security as its position in relation to other major powers is undergoing transformation by allowing it to maintain a consistent narrative of its international self that abides by its own set of moral values and sense of worth. This book will be of interest to students of critical security studies, Chinese politics, and International Relations.
