Africa's Development in the Twenty-first Century Kwadwo Konadu-Agyemang, Martin Kwamina Panford, 2006 Having been under colonial rule for the first half of the century by 1965 all but a handful of African countries had regained their independence and were poised to take off into an era of development However Africa now suffers from the most acute form of underdevelopment anywhere in the world Bringing together a broad selection of case studies covering a wide range of key issues this volume provides a multidisciplinary exploration of Africa's development opportunities and challenges into the twenty first century

Tourism and Development Richard Sharpley, David J. Telfer, 2002 This text explores the role of tourism as a potential contributor to socio economic development in destination areas Establishing a link between tourism studies and development studies it considers what is meant by development the processes through which development may be achieved and in particular a number of fundamental issues related to the use of tourism as a development agent In so doing it challenges conventional thinking about the relationship between tourism and development      Environmental Management and Development Christopher J. Barrow, 2005 The environment and its management has been and continues to be a very topical issue Existing environment and development texts place emphasis is on listing problems making warnings and voicing advocacy but by focusing on environmental management this informative book offers a very different perspective Moving on from the usual much discussed viewpoints Barrow looks towards practical management and problem solving techniques He clarifies the definition nature and role of environmental management in development and developing countries beginning with an introduction to the key terms issues and tools of environmental management which are linked and developed in later chapters and concluding by discussing who pays for environmental management and its future in developing countries Written by an experienced and well known author this clear user friendly book ideal for students of resource management geography and development studies makes excellent use of chapter summaries boxed case studies annotated further readings and websites discussion questions and illustrations

Colonial Cities R.J. Ross, Gerard J. Telkamp, 2012-12-06 by ROBERT ROSS and GERARD J TELKAMP I In a sense cities were superfluous to the purposes of colonists The Europeans who founded empires outside their own continent were primarily concerned with extracting those products which they could not acquire within Europe These goods were largely agricultural and grown most often in a climate not found within Europe Even when as in India before 1800 the major exports were manufactures in general they were still made in the countryside rather than in the great cities It was only on rare occasion when great mineral wealth was discovered that giant metropolises grew up around the site of extraction Since their location was deter mined by geology not economics they might be in the most inaccessible and in convenient areas but they too would draw labour off from the agricultural pursuits of the colony as a whole From the point of view of the colonists the cities were therefore in some respects necessary evils as they were parasites on the rural producers competing with the colonists in the process of surplus extraction Nevertheless the colonists could not do without cities The requirements of colonisation demanded many unequivocally urban functions Pre eminent among these was of course the need for a port to allow the export of colonial wares and the import of goods from Europe or from other parts of the non European world in the country trade as it was known around India      The Living City David Cadman, Geoffrey Payne, 2019-06-21 First published in 1990 The options and probabilities for the future of cities are issues of outstanding contemporary importance both in the developed and developing worlds The Living City draws together both current mainstream ideas on their futures and various alternative views to enliven the debate and put forward an agenda for sustainable urban development emphasizing ideas that question the economic imperatives of that development Certain aspects of city life the economy of the city city countryside relationships the city as a cultural centre are selected for study as the book looks at the historical past and current experiences to speculate on the likely condition of cities in the future In addition the book investigates whether the Third World experience of city life is a separate experience or whether there are lessons to be learnt relating to all cities The book will appeal to professionals in the surveying planning and architectural fields as well as students and academics in Planning Geography Economics Architecture Development Studies and Sociology and anyone interested in issues concerning the city and the environment     A Geography of the Third World C.G Clarke,Dr J P Dickenson,J.P Dickenson,W.T.S Gould,S Mather,Sandra Mather,Prof R Mansell Prothero,R.M Prothero,D.J Siddle,C.T Smith,Mr C T Smith,E.

Thomas-Hope,2013-04-15 The label of Third World covers half the land surface and three quarters of the population of the planet The problems and potential of this region and its peoples are attracting increasing concern and interest Fully revised and updated this edition includes a wealth of photographic and line illustrations boxed case studies chapter summaries guides to further reading Issues of increasing concern at the end of the twentieth century are fully addressed for example the widening gap in economic performance between countries in the Third world and the assertion of national cultures in the face of globalisation New material on gender issues and the environmental impact of development has been included

Theorising Development in Africa Munyaradzi Mawere,2017-12-17 How come Africa is so underdeveloped when it is one of the richest continents on earth Indeed Africa is a paradox it is poor and rich at the same time Resource wise Africa is among the top richest continents in the world yet development wise it is the poorest of all continents This paradox desperately needs comprehensive theoretical unpacking and rethinking if Africa is to achieve breakthroughs to the multifaceted development related problems that have haunted it since the beginning of its unequal encounters with Europe Regrettably current Eurocentric development theories fall short on several fronts The need for a comprehensive body of knowledge theories and models from the perspective of Africans persists in urgency The present volume is an attempt to theorise Africas under development with a view to provide a sustainable enduring framework of operations that will arrest the elusive predicament of the continent while taking it forward from its current position of passivity It rethinks and re imagines a number of externally imposed problematic mechanisms used unconsciously in Africa with the intention to raise awareness and foster critical thinking in scholars and scholarship on African development With its predicament oriented theorising the book is a pacesetter on how to think and research Africas under development It is also an invaluable asset for social scientists policy makers development practitioners civil society activists and politicians     Regional Development and Its Spatial Structure Dadao Lu,2024-02-20 This book describes the progress and prominent theories of regional development research in the past decades especially in the past decade discusses the industrial structure spatial structure resources and environment as well as a series of practical issues and reveals the general characteristics of spatial structure evolution in the process of regional development The research on the issues of regional development has become the frontier of relevant disciplines since the 1950s and much progress has been made in the process of solving practical problems in social and economic development This book provides an in depth and systematic demonstration of the point axis system theory of regional exploitation and development as well as the T shaped structure of China's regional economic action in theory and practice and discusses the impact of location differential rent restricted accessibility technological innovation etc on regional development theoretically This book is used as a reference for planning scientific research and teaching personnel in territorial expansion regional economy human geography etc Regional Development Planning and Management of Urbanization United Nations Centre for Human Settlements,1997

Tourism and the Millennium Development Goals Jarkko Saarinen,Christian M. Rogerson,Haretsebe Manwa,2013-10-31 In 2000 United Nations adopted the Millennium Development Goals UN MDGs committing the member nations to a new global partnership to reduce extreme poverty and setting out a series of specific targets with a deadline of 2015 Related to the UN MDGs tourism is increasingly seen as a promising tool for poverty reduction ensuring environmental sustainability and developing a global partnership for development for example Thus the industry has become an important policy tool for community and regional development in many developing countries and the expectations for tourism and its social and economic outcomes have evolved to a high level However there are still many challenges to overcome in the relationship between tourism industry development and poverty reduction This book aims to discuss the promises challenges and outcomes of tourism in development with a specific aim of drawing together research related to tourism and UN MDGs The papers discuss what lessons can be learnt and conclusions drawn from the utilisation of tourism for development and poverty reduction What emerges from this collection is a set of interesting results and notions which both support and challenge the connections between tourism and development and the new role of tourism in global development This book is an extended version of a special issue published in Current Issues in Tourism

Urbanism, Colonialism and the World-economy Anthony King,2015-03-27 Recent years have witnessed a surge in public awareness concerning the impact of world economic forces on cities In this challenging book the author argues that though the consciousness is new the phenomena themselves are not For the past two centuries at least world economic political and cultural forces have been major factors shaping cities patterns of urbanization and the physical and spatial forms of the built environment Anthony King believes that the historical context of contemporary global restructuring must be recognized if present day urban and regional change is to be properly understood He explores and documents the cultural and spatial links between metropolitan core and colonial periphery and examines the historical foundations of the world urban system He also looks at the social production of building and urban form and demonstrates their potential for understanding economic political social and cultural change on a global scale      Theory of Urban Space Development Jin Duan, 2024-08-29 This book is a systematic monograph on urban space development theory exploring the laws of urban space development and the basic principles of planning and design It clarifies the connotation and methods of urban space development research highlights the deep structure and four laws of urban space development expounds the obvious characteristics of urban and regional forms and discusses the interventional role of urban planning and the development mode of Chinese urban space It also discusses the methodological change of modern urban design and forms the principles and core content of China's national spatial planning Guided by the fundamental principles and methods of development theory this book follows logical progression from concept to method from deep structure to manifest form from macro to micro and from law to planning By providing readers with a comprehensive and systematic urban space development research system this book is a valuable read for both researchers and graduate students in urban studies and architectural design The translation was done with the help of artificial intelligence A subsequent human revision was done primarily in terms of content
