English indifference to or isolation from European geographic developments Tracing English geographical thought through the material culture of literary and popular texts this study provides evidence for the reception and transmission of Ptolemaic based geography in England during a critical period of geographic innovation and synthesis one that laid the foundation for modern geographical representation With evidence from prose romance book illustration theatrical performance cosmological ceilings and almanacs Mirror of the World proposes a new interdisciplinary literary and cartographic history of the influence of Ptolemaic geography in England one that reveals the lively integration of geographic concepts through narrative and non cartographic visual forms
