government institutions to individual identities Contributors collaborated in a vibrant workshops series sponsored by the North American branch of the Second World War Research Group SWWRGNA an organization that emerged to nurture scholarship on the global war and unite scholars fragmented in narrower regional and methodological stovepipes to consider the war as a whole The SWWRGNA and this volume showcase the work of diverse historians across subfields operational cultural gender social intelligence and diplomatic history This approach exposes the Second World War as a catalyst for overlapping global changes that revolutionized the world after 1945 These scholars reveal continuities and parallels in wartime experiences that would remain invisible in narrowly focused projects The volume establishes three frameworks for understanding and interpreting changes the war provoked 1 institutional adaptation 2 totalization or the militarization of civilians and 3 cultural transformation Each of the three frameworks is explored from four vantage points Geographies are deliberately contrasted within each framework to examine the broad scope of that level of war driven change
