Public Secrets and Private Sufferings in the South African AIDS Epidemic Jonathan Stadler, 2021-04-26 This book tells the story of the HIV epidemic in South Africa and asks why after more than three decades it has not normalised. Despite considerable efforts to prevent infection and ambitious targets set to end the epidemic by 2030 HIV infections are increasing among young women and treatment uptake and adherence have been uneven. Focusing on the years preceding and following treatment access, this book addresses why an end to AIDS may be misplaced optimism. By examining public discourses and private narratives about infection, illness and death, this work reveals the contradictions between the lived experiences of AIDS sufferers on the one hand and biomedical certainties on the other. Based on long-term ethnographic research in rural villages of the South African lowveld and within HIV prevention interventions in South Africa more generally, this book offers an intimate perspective on the social and cultural responses to the epidemic.

The Story of an African Farm Olive Schreiner, 2003-01-27

The Story of an African Farm 1883 marks an early appearance in fiction of Victorian society's emerging New Woman. The novel follows the spiritual quests of Lyndall and Waldo who each struggle against social constraints in their search for happiness and truth. Lyndall against society's expectations of women and Waldo against stifling class conventions. Written from the margins of the British empire, the novel addresses the conflicts of race, class and gender that shaped the lives of European settlers in Southern Africa before the Boer Wars. This Broadview edition includes appendices that link the novel to histories of empire and colonialism, the emergence of the New Woman and the conflicts between science and religion in the Victorian period. Contemporary reviews are also included.

Engaging African American Males in Community Colleges Ted N. Ingram, James Coaxum, 2018-05-01

This volume dedicated to the engagement of African American males in community colleges furthers the research agenda focused on improving the educational outcomes of African American males. The theme engagement also supports the anti-deficit approach to research on African American males developed by renowned research scholars. The true success of African American males in community colleges rests on how well these institutions engage young men into their institutions. This will require community colleges to examine policies, pedagogical strategies and institutional practices that alienate African American males and foster a culture of underachievement. The authors who have contributed to this volume all speak from the same script which proves that when African American males are properly engaged in an education that is culturally relevant, they will succeed. Therefore, this book will benefit ALL who support the education of African American males. It is our intent that this book will contribute to the growing body of knowledge that exists in this area as well as foster more inquiry into the achievement of African American males. The book offers three approaches to understanding the engagement of African American males in community college which includes empirical research, policy perspectives and programmatic initiatives.

African American Military, Mason, and Muslim Dr. M. Shaheed Aadam, 2025-01-28

This is not only a story of my life but it details the history that I came across. I wanted to let people know that my beginnings were quite rocky but I began to question religion at an early age. I want people to know my fascination with the US Navy and the rest of the military. This book will answer quite a few questions people have had about so-called

African Americans and what really makes us tick in so many words or less Though I can't speak for all Black folks I can say what I know and not what I've heard

Depictions of Home in African American Literature Trudier Harris, 2021-12-06 In Depictions of Home in African American Literature Trudier Harris analyzes fictional homespaces in African American literature from those set in the time of slavery to modern urban configurations of the homespace She argues that African American writers often inadvertently create and follow a tradition of portraying dysfunctional and physically or emotionally violent homespaces Harris explores the roles race and religion play in the creation of homespaces and how geography space and character all influence these spaces Although many characters in African American literature crave safe happy homespaces and frequently carry such images with them through their mental or physical migrations few characters experience the formation of healthy homespaces by the end of their journeys Harris studies the historical cultural and literary portrayals of the home in works from well known authors such as Richard Wright James Baldwin Toni Morrison and August Wilson as well as lesser studied authors such as Daniel Black A J Verdelle Margaret Walker and Dorothy West

Meade, 2019-12-20 In A Sister of the Red Cross: A Tale of the South African War L T Meade crafts a poignant narrative that intertwines personal sacrifice with the broader historical tapestry of the Second Boer War Set against the backdrop of conflict the novel delves into the experiences of female nurses who ventured into the war zone showcasing their bravery and resilience Meade's writing style characterized by vivid imagery and emotive prose brings to life the harsh realities of war while emphasizing themes of compassion duty and moral courage thereby positioning the work within the canon of wartime literature reflective of the early 20th century L T Meade a pioneering female author of the Victorian era was a proponent of women's roles in both society and literature Her extensive background in writing adventure stories and her interest in social issues undoubtedly influenced her portrayal of female characters who defy societal norms Passionate about social reform Meade's own experiences and observations as a woman during a time of upheaval lend authenticity to her characters making them relatable and deeply engaging This novel is a compelling read for those interested in historical fiction that explores the intersections of gender war and humanitarianism Meade's empathetic portrayal of her protagonists offers an enriching perspective on the often overlooked contributions of women during wartime Readers will find a profound reflection on courage and compassion amidst chaos making this work not only a historical account but also a timeless homage to the indomitable spirit of those who serve others

The Annotated African American Folktales Henry Louis Gates Jr., Maria Tatar, 2017-11-14 Winner NAACP Image Award for Outstanding Literary Work Fiction Winner Anne Izard Storytellers Choice Award Holiday Gift Guide Selection Indiewire San Francisco Chronicle and Minneapolis Star Tribune These nearly 150 African American folktales animate our past and reclaim a lost cultural legacy to redefine American literature Drawing from the great folklorists of the past while expanding African American lore with dozens of tales rarely

seen before The Annotated African American Folktales revolutionizes the canon like no other volume Following in the tradition of such classics as Arthur Huff Fauset's Negro Folk Tales from the South 1927 Zora Neale Hurston's Mules and Men 1935 and Virginia Hamilton's The People Could Fly 1985 acclaimed scholars Henry Louis Gates Jr and Maria Tatar assemble a groundbreaking collection of folktales myths and legends that revitalizes a vibrant African American past to produce the most comprehensive and ambitious collection of African American folktales ever published in American literary history Arguing for the value of these deceptively simple stories as part of a sophisticated complex and heterogeneous cultural heritage Gates and Tatar show how these remarkable stories deserve a place alongside the classic works of African American literature and American literature more broadly Opening with two introductory essays and twenty seminal African tales as historical background Gates and Tatar present nearly 150 African American stories among them familiar Brer Rabbit classics but also stories like The Talking Skull and Witches Who Ride as well as out of print tales from the 1890s Southern Workman Beginning with the figure of Anansi the African trickster master of improvisation a spider who plots and weaves in scandalous ways The Annotated African American Folktales then goes on to draw Caribbean and Creole tales into the orbit of the folkloric canon It retrieves stories not seen since the Harlem Renaissance and brings back archival tales of Negro folklore that Booker T Washington proclaimed had emanated from a grapevine that existed even before the American Revolution stories brought over by slaves who had survived the Middle Passage Furthermore Gates and Tatar's volume not only defines a new canon but reveals how these folktales were hijacked and misappropriated in previous incarnations egregiously by Joel Chandler Harris a Southern newspaperman as well as by Walt Disney who cannibalized and capitalized on Harris's volumes by creating cartoon characters drawn from this African American lore Presenting these tales with illuminating annotations and hundreds of revelatory illustrations The Annotated African American Folktales reminds us that stories not only move entertain and instruct but more fundamentally inspire and keep hope alive The Annotated African American Folktales includes Introductory essays nearly 150 African American stories and 20 seminal African tales as historical background The familiar Brer Rabbit classics as well as news making vernacular tales from the 1890s Southern Workman An entire section of Caribbean and Latin American folktales that finally become incorporated into the canon Approximately 200 full color museum quality images
