Global South Asia Madhurima Chakraborty, 2021-12-30 This book collects essays that take on the excavatory critical and generative work of rethinking the relationship between South Asia and the world In examining what kind of new relationships are uncovered between these two geopolitical groupings the chapters in this book argue that South Asian literature and literary criticism can reframe the common narrative of the powerful Global North and a disenfranchised Global South This is not always a comforting reframing since it must account for the oppressive roles that South Asian nations sometimes play in regional and intranational theatres Through myriad disciplinary groundings theoretical approaches and objects of study the essays in this book collectively argue that South Asian literature allows us to think more critically about both the liberatory possibilities of South Asia as a grouping of nations but also of ideas and aesthetics as well as the elisions that may happen under such categorization The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the South Asia Review Cuban Cinema Michael Chanan, 2004 New chapters express ongoing concerns about freedom of expression the role of the Havana Film Festival in restoring Havana's central position in Latin American cinema the changing audience for Cuban films

Henry Neuman, 1823 Spanish American Women's Use of the Word Stacey Schlau, 2022-10-18 Women's participation both formal and informal in the creation of what we now call Spanish America is reflected in its literary legacy Stacey Schlau examines what women from a wide spectrum of classes and races have to say about the societies in which they lived and their place in them Schlau has written the first book to study a historical selection of Spanish American women's writings with an emphasis on social and political themes Through their words she offers an alternative vision of the development of narrative genres critical fictional and testimonial from colonial times to the present The authors considered here represent the chronological yet nonlinear development of women's narrative They include Teresa Romero Zapata accused before the Inquisition of being a false visionary In's Su rez nun and writer of spiritual autobiography Gertrudis G me z de Avellaneda author of an indigenist historical romance Magda Portal whose biography of Flora Trist n furthered her own political agenda Dora Alonso who wrote revolutionary children's books Domitila Barrios de Chungara political leader and organizer Elvira Orph e whose novel unpacks the psychology of the torturer and several others who address social and political struggles that continue to the present day Although the writers treated here may seem to have little in common all sought to maneuver through institutions and systems and insert themselves into public life by using the written word often through the appropriation and modification of mainstream genres In examining how these authors stretched the boundaries of genre to create a multiplicity of hybrid forms Schlau reveals points of convergence in the narrative tradition of challenging established political and social structures Outlining the shape of this literary tradition she introduces us to a host of neglected voices as well as examining better known ones who demonstrate that for women simply writing can be a political act Pocket Dictionary of Spanish and English Henry Neuman, 1831
