Stone Tools as Cultural Markers R. V. S. Wright, 1977 Papers presented to a symposium at the 1974 meeting of the Australian Institute of Aboriginal Affairs      Review of Stone Tools as Cultural Markers Laila Haglund-Calley, 1979

Turning Points in Australian History Martin Crotty, David Andrew Roberts, 2009 This exciting and stimulating book looks back at turning points and crucial moments in Australian history Rather than arguing that there have been forks on a pre determined road the book challenges us to think about other paths or better paths that might have led to different outcomes      Stone Tools as cultural markers R. V. S. Wright, 1977 Papers by R V S Wright G Isaac M J Barrett S Bulmer J K Clegg F P Dickson C E Dortch A Gallus R A Gould S J Hallam B Hayden R Jones J Kamminga R J Lampert H Lourandos I McBryde F D McCarthy D J Mulvaney J F OConnell R H Pearce G L Pretty E D Stockton N B Tindale R L Vanderwal separately annotated      Understanding Stone Tools and Archaeological Sites Brian P. Kooyman, 2000 Covers manufacturing techniques lithic types and materials reduction strategies and techniques worldwide lithic technology production variables meaning of form and usewear and residue analysis      The Pleistocene Old World Olga Soffer, 2013-11-11 Regional approaches to past human adaptations have generated much new knowledge and understanding Researchers working on problems of adaptations in the Holocene from those of simple hunter gatherers to those of complex sociopolitical entities like the state have found this approach suitable for comprehension of both ecological and social aspects of human behavior This research focus has however until recently left virtually un touched a major spatial and temporal segment of prehistory the Old World during the Pleistocene Extant literature on this period by and large presents either detailed site specific accounts or offers continental or even global syntheses that tend to compile site specific information but do not integrate it into whole constructs of functioning sociocultural entities This volume presents our current state of knowledge about a variety of regional adaptations that characterized prehistoric groups in the Old World before 10 000 B P The authors of the chapters consider the behavior of humans rather than that of objects or features and present data and models for various aspects of past cultures and for culture change These presentations integrate findings and understandings derived from a number of related disciplines actively involved in researching the past Data and interpretations are offered on a range of Old world regions during the Paleolithic including Africa Asia Australia and Europe and chronological coverage spans from the Early to Late Pleistocene      ,      The Abandonment of Settlements and Regions Catherine M. Cameron, Steve A. Tomka, 1993-07-08 Groups of people abandoned sites in different ways and for different reasons And what they did when they left a settlement or area had a direct bearing on the kind and quality of cultural remains that entered the archaeological record for example whether buildings were dismantled or left standing or tools buried destroyed or removed from the site Contributors to this unique collection on site abandonment draw on ethnoarchaeological and archaeological data from North and South America Europe Africa and the Near East      Tracing Early Agriculture in the Highlands of New Guinea Tim Denham, 2018-06-28 In this book historical narratives chart how people created forms of agriculture in the highlands of New Guinea and how these practices were transformed through time The intention is twofold to clearly establish New Guinea as a region of early agricultural development and plant domestication and to develop a contingent practice based interpretation of early agriculture that has broader application to other regions of the world The multi disciplinary record from the highlands has the potential to challenge and change long held assumptions regarding early agriculture globally which are usually based on domestication Early agriculture in the highlands is charted by an exposition of the practices of plant exploitation and cultivation Practices are ontologically prior because they ultimately produce the phenotypic and genotypic changes in plant species characterised as domestication as well as the social and environmental transformations associated with agriculture They are also methodologically prior because they emplace plants in specific historico geographic contexts
