In a monumental and original study, Fehlner demonstrates the deep contours of thought between the two greatest Oxford theologians, John Duns Scotus and John Henry Newman. The essays in this volume give clear witness to the range and depth of Fehlner's theological and philosophical contributions as a critic and more importantly as the greatest Franciscan voice in constructive theology since the seventeenth century Golden Age of Scotism.

A Cultural History of Marriage in the Renaissance and Early Modern Age Joanne M. Ferraro, 2021-11-18. Why marry? The personal question is timeless. Yet the highly emotional desires of men and women during the period between 1450 and 1650 were also circumscribed by external forces that operated within a complex arena of sweeping economic, demographic, political, and religious changes. The period witnessed dramatic religious reforms in the Catholic confession and the introduction of multiple Protestant denominations; the advent of the printing press; European encounters and exchange with the Americas, North Africa, and southwestern and eastern Asia; the growth of state bureaucracies and a resurgence of ecclesiastical authority in private life. These developments, together with social, religious, and cultural attitudes including the constructed norms of masculinity, femininity, and sexuality, impinged upon the possibility of marrying. The nine scholars in this volume aim to provide a comprehensive picture of current research on the cultural history of marriage for the years between 1450 and 1650 by identifying both the ideal templates for nuptial unions in prescriptive writings and artistic representation and actual practices in the spheres of courtship and marriage, rites, sexual relationships, the formation of family networks, marital dissolution, and the overriding choices of individuals over the structural and cultural constraints of the time. A Cultural History of Marriage in the Renaissance and Early Modern Age presents an overview of the period with essays on Courtship and Ritual, Religion, State and Law, Kinship and Social Networks, the Family, Economy, Love and Sex, the Breaking of Vows, and Representations of Marriage.
