Stories From A Victorian Nursery:

Short Stories from a Victorian Nursery Dorothy Onslow, 1984-11-01 The Victorian Nursery Book Antony Miall, Peter Miall, 1980 The Story of the Nursery Magdalen King-Hall, 2022-11-21 Originally published in 1958 this reconstruction of the lives of young children of nursery age is an excursion into the past from the Middle Ages to the opening years of the twentieth century It tells of the methods often extraordinary to our ideas by which they were brought up from babyhood to about seven years old their clothes diet the fearsome remedies that were inflicted on them in illness their toys games books and first steps in education It shows how the pristine simplicity of the child's nature which hardly alters throughout the centuries was moulded by the pressure of the adult society around them into some semblance of the accepted contemporary type This story of the nursery is not only about young children but about their parents too There are parents in it who are stern harsh even cruel and many more loving and careful ones but one thing strikes us in these parents of former times there is an air of unassailable confidence and certainty about them that the modern parent versed in child psychology would find it hard to achieve As one seventeenth century worthy put it For that which always happens in a concerne so universall as breeding children must needs be provided for by a traditionell method of proceeding American Home Life, 1880-1930 Jessica H. Foy, 2024-07-31 In the pivotal decades around the turn of the century American domestic life underwent dramatic alteration From backstairs to front stairs spaces and the activities within them were radically affected by shifts in the larger social and material environments This volume while taking account of architecture and decoration moves us beyond the study of buildings to the study of behaviors particularly the behaviors of those who peopled the middle class single family detached American home between 1880 and 1930 The book's contributors study transformations in services such as home utilities of power heat light water and waste removal in servicing for example the impact of home appliances such as gas and electric ranges washing machines and refrigerators and in serving changes in domestic servants duties hours of work racial and ethnic backgrounds In blending intellectual and home history these essays both examine and exemplify the perennial American enthusiasm for as well as anxiety about the meaning of modernity The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Literature Cynthia Conchita Sugars, 2016 The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Literature provides a broad ranging introduction to some of the key critical fields genres and periods in Canadian literary studies The essays in this volume written by prominent theorists in the field reflect the plurality of critical perspectives regional and historical specializations and theoretical positions that constitute the field of Canadian literary criticism across a range of genres and historical periods The volume provides a dynamic introduction to current areas of critical interest including 1 attention to the links between the literary and the public sphere encompassing such topics as neoliberalism trauma and memory citizenship material culture literary prizes disability studies literature and history digital cultures globalization studies and environmentalism or ecocriticism 2 interest in Indigenous literatures and settler Indigenous relations 3 attention to multiple diasporic and postcolonial contexts within Canada 4 interest in the institutionalization of Canadian literature as a discipline 5 a turn towards book history and literary history with a renewed interest in early Canadian literature 6 a growing interest in articulating the affective character of the literary including an interest in affect theory mourning melancholy haunting memory and autobiography The book represents a diverse array of interests from the revival of early Canadian writing to the continued interest in Indigenous regional and diasporic traditions to more recent discussions of globalization market forces and neoliberalism It includes a distinct section dedicated to Indigenous literatures and traditions as well as a section that reflects on the discipline of Canadian literature as a whole The Victorian Nursery Book Anthony Miall, Peter Miall, 1980

Women Writers of Children's Classics Mary Sebag-Montefiore, 2008 Annotation A lively study of the work of four major 19th century women writers of children's books Juliana Ewing Louisa Molesworth Frances Hodgson Burnett and Edith Nesbit

British Women Writers and the Short Story, 1850-1930 K. Krueger, 2014-03-30 This book addresses a critically neglected genre used by women writers from Gaskell to Woolf to complicate Victorian and modernist notions of gender and social space Their innovative short stories ask Britons to reconsider where women could live how they could be identified and whether they could be contained History in the Early Years Hilary Cooper, 2013-12-16 History in the Early Years is an innovative and accessible guide to helping young children explore the past through their environment family history and story This fully revised edition includes guidance on introducing children to the past at the Foundation Stage in school and pre school settings Throughout it shows how the requirements of the early years curriculum can be met in innovative ways and is fully illustrated by case study examples of children's learning and also supported by recent research The book will support both new and experienced early years practitioners in developing young children's sense of identity through history It encourages practitioners to ensure that history is a significant dimension of early years education and will be essential reading for all teachers in the early and primary years An Evacuee's Story a North Yorkshire Family in Wartime

John T. Wright, 2007-09-12 A poignantly written and graphically described story of the pleasure and pain endured as an evacuee during World War Two Like so many of his young friends and relatives John Wright was required to leave the love and care of his parents in Middlesbrough at a very young age to escape the attention of the Luftwaffe and to be evacuated into the hands of a crowded and unloving home in Haxby a quaint village north of the great city of York The book eloquently describes his voyage of childhood discovery in the beautiful countryside coupled with the cruel attentions of a foster mother whose motivation was not to lavish love and support to her unfortunate foster children but to hurt and belittle them It is a bittersweet story of innocent interludes and mean realities for an evacuee child set amidst the horrors and melancholy of that devastating conflict True Stories Francis Spufford, 2017-01-01 An irresistible collection of favorite writings from an author celebrated for his bravura style and sheer unpredictability Francis Spufford's welcome first volume of collected essays gathers an array of his compelling writings from the 1990s to the present He makes use of a variety of encounters with particular places writers or books to address deeper questions relating to the complicated relationship between story telling and truth telling How must a nonfiction writer imagine facts vivifying them to bring them to life How must a novelist create a dependable world of story within which facts are in fact imaginary And how does a religious faith felt strongly to be true but not provably so draw on both kinds of writerly imagination Ranging freely across topics as diverse as the medieval legends of Cockaigne the Christian apologetics of C S Lewis and the tomb of Ayatollah Khomeini Spufford provides both fresh observations and thought provoking insights No less does he inspire an irresistible urge to turn the page and read on bloomsburycollections.com Social Dreaming Elaine Ostry, 2013-11-05 Dickens was known for his incredible imagination and fiery social protest. In Social Dreaming Elaine Ostry examines how these two qualities are linked through Dickens's use of the fairy tale, a genre that infuses his work. To many Victorians the fairy tale was not childish; it promoted the imagination and fancy in a materialistic, utilitarian world. It was a way of criticizing society so that everyone could understand. Like Charles Perrault and the Brothers Grimm, Dickens used the fairy tale to promote his ideology. In this first book-length study of Dickens's use of the fairy tale as a social tool, Elaine Ostry applies exciting new criticism by Jack Zipes and Maria Tatar, among others, that examines the fairy tale in a socio-historical light to Dickens's major works but also his periodicals, the most popular middle-class publications in Victorian times.

Conflicting Stories Elizabeth Ammons, 1992-10-01 The early 1890s through the late 1920s saw an explosion in serious long fiction by women in the United States. Considering a wide range of authors—African American, Asian American, white American, and Native American—this book looks at the work of seventeen writers from that period: Frances Ellen Harper, Charlotte Perkins Gilman, Sarah Orne Jewett, Alice Dunbar Nelson, Kate Chopin, Pauline Hopkins, Gertrude Stein, Mary Austin, Sui Sin Far, Willa Cather, Humishuma, Jessie Fauset, Edith Wharton, Ellen Glasgow, Anzia Yezierska, Edith Summers Kelley, and Nella Larsen. The discussion focuses on the differences in their work and the similarities that unite them, particularly their determination to experiment with narrative form as they explored and voiced issues of power for women. Analyzing the historical context that both enabled and limited American women writers at the turn of the century, Ammons provides detailed readings of many texts and offers extensive commentary on the interaction between race and gender. This book joins the deepening discussion of modern women writers' creation of themselves as artists and raises fundamental questions about the shape of American literary history as it has been constructed in the academy.
