Douglas Branch, 1997-01-01 The Hunting of the Buffalo originally published in 1929 tells all about the marvelous and useful animal that once roamed the American plains Its gradual extermination is chronicled by E Douglas Branch who drew on rich materials including Indian legends old letters and diaries and tales of frontier travelers No one has ever written more memorably about the great herds their habits and haunts their importance to the Indians their discovery by awed whites their decimation by huge cultural and economic forces Interpretation and Compendium of Historical Fire Accounts in the Northern Great Plains Kenneth F. Higgins, 1986 This interpretation and compendium of historical fire accounts in the northern Great Plains provides resource managers with background information to justify the study or use of fire in management and provides a reference of historic fire accounts for those without ready access to major library collections Historical accounts of fire are critiqued to aid interpreting the compendium accounts An interpretation is included by the author Rethinking Wilderness Mark Woods, 2017-07-13 The concept and values of wilderness along with the practice of wilderness preservation have been under attack for the past several decades In Rethinking Wilderness Mark Woods responds to seven prominent anti wilderness arguments Woods offers a rethinking of the received concept of wilderness developing a positive account of wilderness as a significant location for the other than human value adding properties of naturalness wildness and freedom Interdisciplinary in approach the book combines environmental philosophy environmental history environmental social sciences the science of ecology and the science of conservation biology *The Wild North Land: Being the Story of a Winter Journey, with Dogs, Across Northern North America ... With Illustrations [including a Portrait] and Route Map William Francis Butler, 1873 Wolves for Yellowstone?: Research and analysis , 1992 Frozen Fauna of the Mammoth Steppe R. Dale Guthrie, 2013-11-01 Frozen mammals of the Ice Age preserved for millennia in the tundra have been a source of fascination and mystery since their first discovery over two centuries ago These mummies their ecology and their preservation are the subject of this compelling book by paleontologist Dale Guthrie The 1979 find of a frozen extinct steppe bison in an Alaskan gold mine allowed him to undertake the first scientific excavation of an Ice Age mummy in North America and to test theories about these enigmatic frozen fauna The 36 000 year old bison mummy coated with blue mineral crystals was dubbed Blue Babe Guthrie conveys the excitement of its excavation and shows how he made use of evidence from living animals other Pleistocene mummies Paleolithic art and geological data With photographs and scores of detailed drawings he takes the reader through the excavation and subsequent detective work analyzing the animal s carcass and its surroundings the circumstances of its death its appearance in life the landscape it inhabited and the processes of preservation by freezing His examination shows that Blue Babe died in early winter falling prey to lions that inhabited the Arctic during the Pleistocene era Guthrie uses information gleaned from his study of Blue Babe to provide a broad picture of bison evolutionary history and ecology including speculations on the interactions of bison and Ice Age peoples His description of the Mammoth Steppe as a cold dry grassy plain is based on an entirely new way of reading the fossil record People of the Bear Mother T. D. Austin, 2012-08 The most powerful shaman of the People of the Bear Mother invites a young woman to take her soul's great adventure by painting a new piece of animal art on the walls in the deepest chambers of the awesome Great Cave The time has come for Little Bear to make the life altering choice to overcome her fear of the terrifying old shaman and in doing so unalterably change all the lives her soul will subsequently experience even as her lion eye reappears in each lifetime to identify her avatar But before she may embark on her hero's journey she must be initiated as hunter and then as Seer through trials ordeals and the revelations of her people's mythology expressed in the art of the Cave The tale builds to an unexpected climax as one soul experiences many lifetimes in a hunting culture where being born female or male homosexual or heterosexual young or old are equally valid ways of being human Inspired by the work of Joseph Campbell and the artwork of France's 35 000 yearold Chauvet Cave the novel takes a fresh look at and is a new take on the life ways and religion of our earliest ancestors through Little Bear's encounters with shamans hunters avatars and painted caves This story reveals that the spiritual messages hidden within this magnificent incredibly ancient art are the same metaphysical beliefs of the New Age and the same universal human truths at the heart of every world religion and mystical philosophy 2011 Book Competition Finalist Awards USA Best Book Awards for New Age Fiction IBA for Chick Lit Women's Fiction IBA for Gay Lesbian Fiction Prehistoric Man and His Story George Francis Scott Elliot, 1915
