Thomas Mann, Heinrich Mann

Stories Of Three Decades:

Stories of Three Decades Thomas Mann, 1948 A Companion to the Works of Thomas Mann Herbert Lehnert, Eva Wessell, 2004 Thomas Mann is among the greatest of German prose writers and was the first German novelist to reach a wide English speaking readership since Goethe. Novels such as Buddenbrooks, The Magic Mountain and Doktor Faustus attest to his mastery of subtle, distanced irony while novellas such as Death in Venice reveal him at the height of his mastery of language. In addition to fresh insights about these best known works of Mann, this volume treats less often discussed works such as Joseph and His Brothers, Lotte in Weimar and Felix Krull as well as his political writings and essays. Mann himself was a paradox: his role as family father was both refuge and fate; his love of Germany was matched by his contempt for it; having embraced Hitler while in exile during the Nazi period, he functioned as the prime representative of the good Germany in the fight against fascism and he has often been remembered this way in English speaking lands. But a new view of Mann is emerging half a century after his death: a view of him as one of the great writers of a modernity understood as extending into our 21st century. This volume provides sixteen essays by American and European specialists. They demonstrate the relevance of his writings for our time, making particular use of the biographical material that is now available. Contributors: Ehrhard Bahr, Manfred Dierks, Werner Fritzen, Clayton Koelb, Helmut Koopmann, Wolfgang Lederer, Hannelore Mundt, Peter P. Tz. Jens Rieckmann, Hans Joachim Sandberg, Egon Schwarz, and Hans Vaget. Herbert Lehnert is Research Professor and Eva Wessell is lecturer in Humanities both at the University of California, Irvine. Stories of Three Decades Thomas Mann, 1951

Thomas Mann Erich Heller, 1981-03-12 Professor Heller sees Mann as an ironic writer and the late heir of the central tradition of modern German literature A Gorgon's Mask Lewis A. Lawson, 2005-01-01 The thesis of A Gorgon's Mask The Mother in Thomas Mann's Fiction depends upon three psychoanalytic concepts: Freud's early work on the relationship between the infant and its mother and on the psychology of artistic creation; Annie Reich's analysis of the grotesque comic sublimation; and Edmund Bergler's analysis of writer's block. Mann's crisis of sexual anxiety in late adolescence is presented as the defining moment for his entire artistic life. In the throes of that crisis, he included a sketch of a female as Gorgon in a book that would not escape his mother's notice. But to defend himself from being overcome by the Gorgon mother's stare, he employed the grotesque comic sublimation, hiding the mother figure behind fictional characters physically attractive but psychologically repellent. All the while, couching his fiction in an ironic tone that evoked humor, however lacking in humor, the subtext might be: In this manner, he could deny to himself that the mother figure always lurked in his work and by that denial deny that he was a victim of oral regression. For as Edmund Bergler argues, the creative writer who acknowledges his oral dependency will inevitably succumb to writer's block. Mann's late work reveals that his defense against the Gorgon is crumbling. In Doctor Faustus, Mann portrays Adrian Leverkühn as ultimately the victim of oral regression, but the fact that Mann was able to complete the novel despite severe physical illness and psychological distress demonstrates that he himself was still holding writer's block at bay In Confessions of Felix Krull Confidence Man a narrative that he had abandoned forty years before Mann was finally forced to acknowledge that he was depleted of creative vitality but not of his capacity for irony brilliantly couching the victorious return of the repressed in ambiguity This study will be of interest to general readers who enjoy Mann's narrative art to students of Mann's work especially its psychological and mythological aspects and to students of the psychology of artistic creativity
