The Definitive Journals of Lewis and Clark Gary E. Moulton, 2004-01-01 This landmark volume contains the most complete listing and presentation of the plant specimens collected by the Lewis and Clark expedition All but one of the plants were collected by Meriwether Lewis the expedition's botanist The collection however was nearly lost over the years when it was scattered among various botanists who intended to catalog the expedition's scientific discoveries Fortunately for many years the specimens have been in the care of major institutions principally the Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia The 239 extant items are brought together in one book for the first time This indispensable volume will assist researchers and enthusiasts hoping to identify each plant's date and place of collection and other information such as plant habitat and ethnobotanical use The Definitive Journals of Lewis and Clark Meriwether Lewis, William Clark, Gary E.

Lewis and Clark Meriwether Lewis, William Clark, Gary E. Moulton, 2002-01-01 Lively and curious possessing a keen eye for detail and a knack for skin dressing Private Joseph Whitehouse produced an account that stands as the only surviving record by any army private in the Corps of Discovery expedition In simple and well paced sentences he painted full portraits of the unusual group of men he accompanied on one of the greatest adventures in American history Whitehouse's journal is published here in full for the first time including entries from a second copy of his journal that extend the narrative for five months beyond previous editions Although Whitehouse's career after the expedition was checkered and he disappeared after 1817 his vivid eyewitness account will long be remembered Whitehouse's journal joins the celebrated Nebraska edition of the complete journals of the Lewis and Clark expedition which feature a wide range of new scholarship dealing with all aspects of the expedition from geography to Indian cultures and languages to plants and animals The Definitive Journals of

Gass, 2003-01-01 An accomplished carpenter and boat builder Patrick Gass proved to be an invaluable and well liked member of the Lewis and Clark expedition Promoted to sergeant after the death of Charles Floyd Gass was almost certainly responsible for supervising the building of Forts Mandan and Clatsop His records of those forts and of the earth lodges of the Mandans and Hidatsas are particularly detailed and useful Gass was the last survivor of the Corps of Discovery living until 1870 long enough to see trains cross a continent that he had helped open His engaging and detailed journal became the first published account of the Lewis and Clark expedition Gass s journal joins the celebrated Nebraska edition of the complete journals of the Lewis and Clark expedition which feature a wide range of new scholarship dealing with all aspects of the expedition from geography to Indian cultures and languages to plants and animals The Definitive Journals of Lewis and Clark John Ordway, 2003-01-01 The dependable and matter of fact John Ordway was one of the mainstays of the Corps of Discovery promoted early on to sergeant and serving as an able leader during the captains absence Fascinated by the peoples and places he encountered Ordway became the most faithful journalist on the expedition recording information not found elsewhere and making an entry for every day during the expedition Ordway later married and became a prosperous owner of two plantations in Missouri His honest and informative account which remained undiscovered for a century offers an unforgettable glimpse of an enlisted man s experiences and observations as he and the Corps of Discovery embarked on the journey of a lifetime In contrast to Ordway s extensive chronicle stands the far too brief but intriguingly detailed eyewitness account of Sergeant Charles Floyd the only member to die on the expedition The journals of John Ordway and Charles Floyd are part of the celebrated Nebraska edition of the complete journals of the Lewis and Clark expedition which feature a wide range of new scholarship on all aspects of the expedition from geography to Indian cultures and languages to plants and animals

This volume documents their travels from the Three Forks of the Missouri River in present-day Montana to the Cascades of the Columbia River on today's Washington-Oregon border, including the expedition's progress over the rugged Bitterroot Mountains along the nearly impenetrable Lolo Trail. Along the way the explorers encountered Shoshones, Flatheads, Nez Percés, and other Indian tribes, some of whom had never before met white people. The Definitive Journals of Lewis & Clark: Down the Columbia to Fort Clatsop Gary E. Meriwether Lewis and William Clark led this expedition of 1804-6. Along the way they filled hundreds of notebook pages with observations of the geography, Indian tribes, and natural history of the trans Mississippi West. This volume covers the last leg of the party's route from the Cascades of the Columbia River to the Pacific Coast and their stay at Fort Clatsop near the river's mouth until the spring of 1806.
