The New Law Journal, 1986 Making the Most of Fieldwork Education Auldeen Alsop, Susan Ryan, 2013-11-11 Fieldwork education which combines work based learning and assessment has a pivotal place in professional education. It provides a precious opportunity to integrate the art, science and ethical practice of Occupational Therapy. The therapeutic milieu is also the most appropriate but difficult setting in which to judge competence to practise. Yet fieldwork education has not received the attention, resources, research and status it deserves. This is why this book is so important. The focus upon the student's experience reflects the central tenet of the book: the responsibility, challenge and pleasure of life-long learning. The book covers the whole spectrum of fieldwork in a way which will be of interest to academic and fieldwork educators too. This is achieved through a striking balance between reassuring practical advice and scholarly analysis. The reader is encouraged to enter into current debates, engage in interdisciplinary and international comparisons and appreciate the tensions between professional issues and organizational contexts. The insights into the logistical, political and educational factors which contribute to the theory-practice gap are noteworthy. In my view, the authors have produced an excellent introduction to fieldwork education and especially to the complexities of clinical reasoning, which is a vital component of initial and continuing competence for many professions. I hope the book will enhance the effectiveness of fieldwork education and thus the quality of health and social care.

International Legal Books in Print, 1990-1991 Bowker-Saur, 1990 Law and the Social Work Practitioner Rodger White, Keith Brown, Graeme Broadbent, 2009-07-28. This book explores the main areas of social work law including children, mental health and community care. By investigating the meaning of law and some of its underlying value assumptions, it encourages practitioners to reflect on their actions and beliefs, helping them to avoid being a mere technician and instead become a competent practitioner. This new text supports busy social workers studying for Post Qualifying Awards. Each chapter begins with an overview of the rationale for the teaching material provided and sets out clear learning objectives. Case studies, exercises and recommendations for further reading can be found throughout the book. Information Rights Philip Coppel KC, 2020-06-11. Retaining the position it has held since first publication, the fifth edition of this leading practitioner text on information law has been thoroughly reworked to provide comprehensive coverage of the Data Protection Act 2018 and the GDPR. Information Rights has been cited by the Supreme Court, Court of Appeal and others and is used by practitioners, judges and all those who practise in the field. The new edition maintains its style of succinct statements of principle supported by case law, legislative provisions and statutory guidance. Reflecting its enlarged scope and to maintain easy referencing, the work has been arranged into two volumes. The first volume is a 1,250-page commentary divided into six parts. The first part is an overview and introduction to overarching principles. The second part provides an authoritative treatment of the data protection regime. This covers all four forms of processing: general, applied, law enforcement and security services under the GDPR and DPA 2018. Each obligation and each right is comprehensively treated with reference to all known case law, both domestic and EU, including those dealing with analogous provisions in the previous data protection regime. The third part provides a detailed treatment of the environmental information regime. This recognises the treaty provenance of the regime and its distinct requirements The fourth part continues to provide the most thorough analysis available of the Freedom of Information Act and its Scottish counterpart As with earlier editions every tribunal and court decision has been reviewed and where required referenced The fifth part considers other sources of information rights including common law rights local government rights and subject specific statutory information access regimes eg health records court records audit information etc The final part deals with practice and procedure examining appeal and regulatory processes criminal sanctions and so forth The second volume comprises extensive annotated statutory material including the DPA 2018 the GDPR FOIA subordinate legislation international conventions and statutory guidance The law is stated as at
