authoritative voice of a unique artist The essays which explore this hidden process of the writer writing focus on some of the major writers of recent times V S Naipaul J M Coetzee Alice Munro William Trevor and Mavis Gallant The focus of investigation is a single work by each author and many of them identify the book in which this turning point was reached The writers have a somewhat different sense of what the voice is a true voice the voice in the mind the writing voice etc yet all of them accept the phrase finding a voice as a decisive and necessary process towards a unique style and vision their raison d'être as artists These essays allow each one to define his or her sense of the process of writing and their style is exploratory Nevertheless certain patterns emerge of migration and cultural displacement of linguistic self consciousness of memory and a reimagining of the first home of absorbing and rejecting mentors and models Crucially the essays rely not just on what led up to the moment of creation but on a sense of the career that emerged from it Most of the writers have written retrospectively in memoirs interviews or essays about the pivotal work and its foundational significance They are the best witnesses to the process although their silence or their commentary is understood in terms of the many strands of the narrative that each essay presents

A Bit on the Side William Trevor, 2010-10-15 William Trevor's stunning new collection of stories displays this renowned craftsman at the peak of his powers A middle aged couple meet in a theatre bar for a squalid blind date a disappointed priest fears an innocent young girl may run away from home two self certain sisters visit a newly widowed local woman From these slender moments Trevor creates whole lives conjuring up characters marked by bitterness and loss William Trevor's graceful prose is a wonder in itself and as convincing when inhabiting the mind of a school lunchmaid an adulterous Irish country librarian or a murderer on the London streets And as is always the case with William Trevor venom and tragedy are never far from the still surface of the stories These stories many of which first appeared in The New Yorker are small masterpieces of observation from one of the most highly acclaimed and beloved writers of the century

Love and Summer William Trevor, 2009-08-25 The inimitable William Trevor returns with a story of suspicion guilt forbidden love and the possibility of starting over It's summer and nothing much is happening in Rathmoye So it doesn't go unnoticed when a dark haired stranger begins photographing the mourners at Mrs Connulty's funeral Florian Kilderry couldn't know that the Connultys were said to own half the town But Miss Connulty resolves to keep an eye on Florian and she becomes a witness to the ensuing events In a characteristically masterful way Trevor evokes the passions and frustrations in an Irish town during one long summer

Felicia's Journey William Trevor, 1996-01-01 Perfectly executed and chilling a sad and oddly moving tale of lost opportunities and misplaced hopes The New York Times Trevor was our twentieth century Chekov Wall Street Journal Felicia is unmarried pregnant and penniless She steals away from a small Irish town and drifts through the industrial English Midlands searching for the boyfriend who left her Instead she meets up with the fat fiftyish unfailingly reasonable Mr Hilditch who is looking for a new friend to join the five other girls in his Memory Lane But the strange sad terrifying tricks of chance unravel both his and Felicia's delusions in a story that will magnetize fans of Alfred Hitchcock and Ruth Rendell even as it resonates with William Trevor's own impeccable strength and piercing profundity The Washington Post Book World     After Rain William Trevor, 2010-12-22 Here is a new collection of twelve absorbing deeply compassionate tales that reveal the subtle revenges of love and indifference the deep wells of affection and the strange breathtaking tricks of chance that make up the texture of our lives In the rain washed Italian hills a forgotten artist's Annunciation brings light to a heartbroken woman insidiously in her struggle for love the second wife of a blind piano tuner distorts his memories of the first two children survivors of divorce mimic their parents dramas and passions a mother tied through love and fear to her son watches with helpless dread as she realizes the monster he has become
