The Development Of An Interest Group The Philippine Medical Association:

The Development of an Interest Group Robert B. Stauffer,1966 Handbook of Global Political Policy Stuart Nagel,2022-04-19 The latest in the six volume set of global policy handbooks this reference utilizes a cross national cross policy approach to examine the public policy of six different regions around the world Combining actual and theoretical perspectives the book compares and presents nonideological resolutions to current political conditions worldwide With contributions from over 30 international policy experts and academicians and containing over 1200 literature references tables and drawings the book is an insightful resource for public administrators and public policy experts political scientists economists sociologists attorneys and students in these disciplines Philippine Ethnography Shiro Saito,2019-09-30 This volume is a comprehensive listing of reference sources for Philippine ethnology excluding physical anthropology and de emphasizing folklore and linguistics It is published as part of the East West Bibliographic Series This listing includes books journal articles mimeographed papers and official publications selected on the basis of the ratings of sixty two Philippine specialists Several titles were added to fill the need for material in certain areas Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1970 Includes subject section name section and 1968 1970 technical reports National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1965 Mothers of the Nations: Indigenous Mothering as Global Resistance, Reclaiming and Recovery Lavell Memee. Harvard,2014-10-01 The voices of Indigenous women world wide have long been silenced by colonial oppression and institutions of patriarchal dominance Recent generations of powerful Indigenous women have begun speaking out so that their positions of respect within their families and communities might be reclaimed The book explores issues surrounding and impacting Indigenous mothering family and community in a variety of contexts internationally The book addresses diverse subjects including child welfare Indigenous mothering in curriculum mothers and traditional foods intergenerational mothering in the wake of residential schooling mothering and HIV urban Indigenous mothering mothers working the sex trade adoptive and other mothers Indigenous midwifery and more In addressing these diverse subjects and peoples living in North America Central America Sub Saharan Africa the Philippines and Oceania the authors provide a forum to understand the shared interests of Indigenous women across the globe Foundations and Dynamics of Filipino Government and Politics Raul P. De Guzman,1969 Bibliography of the History of Medicine , The Political Economy of Foreign Policy in Southeast Asia David Wurfel,Bruce Burton,2016-07-27 This is the first book in several years to review the foreign policies of major Southeast Asian states and the first ever to include those frequently neglected smaller states It is also unique in the editors adherence to a new comparative framework which attempts to weave together the earlier literature on comparative foreign policy analysis and current concepts of political economy Comparative foreign policy studies are introduced by three distinguished scholars in that field A general survey of international relations in Southeast Asia then precedes the country chapters all authored by experienced specialists A concluding chapter attempts to identify the emerging patterns of Southeast Asian foreign policy and suggest explanations for them Packaged Plants Anita Hardon, Michael Lim Tan, 2024-11-12 Packaged Plants offers an absorbing ethnography and cultural history of how the production and consumption of plants for food and medicine has gone through metabolic rifts increasingly processed into commodities with adverse impact on health and aggravating existing economic and social inequities The book also describes ultra processed foods that are linked to metabolic syndrome including cardiovascular disease diabetes and obesity Divided into three parts the first part presents a comprehensive historical analysis of the socio metabolic shifts leading to the loss of plant sovereignty in the Philippines It scrutinizes colonial influences urbanization nutritional policies scientific research programs and neoliberal marketing strategies that have paved the way for the proliferation of packaged plant based products passed as food or medicines The second part delves into contemporary socio metabolic dynamics within Puerto Princesa interweaving urban political ecology frameworks with medical anthropological perspectives It elucidates the precarious circumstances of daily life in a boomtown compelling individuals to invest in supplements and engage in resource intensive multi level marketing endeavours The third and final part sheds light on efforts to reclaim plant sovereignty including a resurgence of backyard farming in response to food insecurity exacerbated by the COVID 19 pandemic Through meticulous research and insightful analysis Packaged Plants offers a compelling exploration of the intersectionality between health economics and environment in the Filipino context culture characterized by an anxious and assertive white masculinity emerges from Anderson's description of American efforts to treat and discipline allegedly errant Filipinos. His narrative encompasses a colonial obsession with native excrement: a leper colony intended to transform those considered most unclean and least socialized and the hookworm and malaria programs implemented by the Rockefeller Foundation in the 1920s and 1930s. Throughout, Anderson is attentive to the circulation of intertwined ideas about race, science, and medicine. He points to colonial public health in the Philippines as a key influence on the subsequent development of military medicine and industrial hygiene, U.S. urban health services, and racialized development regimes in other parts of the world.
