The Gardens Of Scotland:

The Gardens of Scotland Peter Verney, 1976-01-01 Gardens of Scotland 2010 Scotland's Gardens Scheme, 2009-12-01 Gardens of Scotland 2010 lists and describes all the gardens opening throughout Scotland for charity including all National Trust for Scotland gardens and Royal Botanic Garden Edinburgh outstations The Garden, 1906
Scotland's Lost Gardens Marilyn Brown, 2012 Gardens are one of the most important elements in the cultural history of Scotland. Like any art form they provide an insight into social, political and economic fashions; they intimately reflect the personalities and ideals of the individuals who created them and they capture the changing fortunes of successive generations of monarchs and noblemen. Yet they remain fragile features of the landscape, easily changed, abandoned or destroyed, leaving little or no trace. In Scotland's Lost Gardens, author Marilyn Brown rediscovers the fascinating stories of the nation's vanished historic gardens. Drawing on varied rare and newly available archive material including the cartography of Timothy Pont, a spy map of Holyrood drawn for Henry VIII during the Rough Wooing, medieval charters, renaissance poetry, the Accounts of the Lord High Treasurer and modern aerial photography, a remarkable picture emerges of centuries of lost landscapes. Starting with the monastic gardens of St Columba on the Isle of Iona in the sixth century and encompassing the pleasure parks of James IV and James V, the royal and noble refuges of Mary Queen of Scots and the King's Knot, the garden masterpiece which lies below Stirling Castle, the history of lost gardens is inextricably linked to the wider history of the nation from the spread of Christianity to the Reformation and the Union of the Crowns. The product of over 30 years of research, Scotland's Lost Gardens demonstrates how our cultural heritage sits within a wider European movement of shared artistic values and literary influences. Providing a unique perspective on this common past, it is also a fascinating guide to Scotland's disappeared landscapes and sanctuaries. Lost gardens laid out many hundreds of years ago for the honourable delight of body and soul.

The Gardens of the National Trust for Scotland Francesca Greenoak, National Trust for Scotland, 2005-06 Since 1945 when it acquired its first garden at Culzean Castle, The National Trust for Scotland has become the country's largest garden owner. Its properties include thirty-five major gardens which are notable for their range and variety, representing the full history of Scottish gardening. Francesca Greenoak's scholarly but easily accessible text describes each garden in detail and discusses its design and plantings, its history, setting and historical and cultural connections. The Trust's policy for the restoration and conservation of each garden is also explained and details are given of soil and climatic conditions and their influence on the repertoire of plants in gardens of the various regions. The text has been prepared with the full cooperation and assistance of the Trust's gardening staff. Most of the photographs were specially taken for this book and have never previously been published. There are also historical plans and other material from the archives of the Trust properties, including photographs dating back a century or more showing some of the gardens and their owners in their Edwardian heyday.
