The Ghost Festival In Medieval China:

The Ghost Festival in Medieval China Stephen F. Teiser, 1988 Largely unstudied until now the religious festivals that attracted Chinese people from all walks of life provide the most instructive examples of the interaction between Chinese forms of social life and the Indian tradition of Buddhism Stephen Teiser examines one of the most important of such annual celebrations He provides a comprehensive interpretation of the festivities of the seventh lunar month in which laypeople presented offerings to Buddhist monks to gain salvation for their ancestors Teiser uncovers a wide range of sources many translated or analyzed for the first time in any language to demonstrate how the symbolism rituals and mythology of the ghost festival pervaded the social landscape of medieval China □Stephen F. Teiser□ The Ghost Festival in Medieval China, 1992 Esoteric Buddhism and the Tantras in East Asia Charles Orzech, Henrik Sørensen, Richard Payne, 2011

Performing Filial Piety in Northern Song China Cong Ellen Zhang, 2020-09-30 Educated men in Song dynasty China 960 1279 traveled frequently in search of scholarly and bureaucratic success These extensive periods of physical mobility took them away from their families homes and native places for long periods of time preventing them from fulfilling their most sacred domestic duty filial piety to their parents In this deeply grounded work Cong Ellen Zhang locates the tension between worldly ambition and family duty at the heart of elite social and cultural life Drawing on more than two thousand funerary biographies and other official and private writing Zhang argues that the predicament in which Song literati found themselves diminished neither the importance of filial piety nor the appeal of participating in examinations and government service On the contrary the Northern Song witnessed unprecedented literati activity and state involvement in the bolstering of ancient forms of filial performances and the promotion of new ones The result was the triumph of a new filial ideal luyang By labeling highly coveted honors and privileges attainable solely through scholarly and official accomplishments as the most celebrated filial acts the luyang rhetoric elevated office holding men to be the most filial of sons Consequently the proper performance of filiality became essential to scholar official identity and self representation Zhang convincingly demonstrates that this reconfiguration of elite male filiality transformed filial piety into a status and gender based virtue a change that had wide implications for elite family life and relationships in the Northern Song The separation of elite men from their parents and homes also made the idea of native place increasingly fluid This development in turn generated an interest in family preservation as filial performance Individually initiated kinship and native place based projects flourished and coalesced with the moral and cultural visions of leading scholar intellectuals providing the social and familial foundations for the ascendancy of Neo Confucianism as well as new cultural norms that transformed Chinese society in the Song and beyond

The Routledge Companion to Chinese Philosophy Brook Ziporyn, Stephen C. Walker, 2025-10-21. The Routledge Companion to Chinese Philosophy features more than 40 chapter length introductions to the concepts, claims and arguments that animate the Chinese philosophical tradition. Taking a topic by topic rather than text by text approach, this Companion aims at helping contemporary Anglophone readers access the philosophical riches of the Chinese tradition by balancing close analysis with broad contextualization. The book is divided into four Acts that reflect system level changes in how the Chinese philosophical conversation has been conducted. Act I draws primarily on pre imperial texts foregrounding competition among persuaders in the absence of a geographical or canonical center of gravity. Act II focuses on the early imperial centralization of intellectual culture around the corpus of Confucian classics. Act III restructures the conversation space according to the radically innovative priorities of Buddhism. Act IV focuses on Neo Confucianism which combines some of the priorities of Act II with the ongoing legacy of Act III. Within each Act, contributors focus on topics like religious and political thought, ethics and self cultivation, philosophical anthropology and theory of agency, language, epistemology, metaphysics, hermeneutics and debate. This volume is essential reading for students, academics and philosophers with an interest in Chinese philosophy.

Sacred Economies Michael John Walsh, 2010. Buddhist monasteries in medieval China employed a variety of practices to ensure their ascendancy and survival. Most successful was the exchange of material goods for salvation as in the donation of land which allowed monks to spread their teachings throughout China. By investigating a variety of socioeconomic spaces produced and perpetuated by Chinese monasteries, Michael J. Walsh reveals the sacred economies that shaped early Buddhism and its relationship with consumption and salvation. Centering his study on Tiantong, a Buddhist monastery that has thrived for close to seventeen centuries in southeast China, Walsh follows three main topics: the spaces monks produced within and around which a community could pursue a meaningful existence; the social and economic avenues through which monasteries provided diverse sacred resources and secured the primacy of Buddhist teachings within an agrarian culture; and the nature of transactive participation within monastic spaces which later became a fundamental component of a broader Chinese religiosity. Unpacking these sacred economies and repositioning them within the history of religion in China, Walsh encourages a different approach to the study of Chinese religion, emphasizing the critical link between religious exchange and the production of material culture
