The Gita Paperback:

The Gita Way Shweta Chandra, 2016 The Gita Way is an irreligious take on the tenets of the Bhagavad Gita Without delving into either mythological or God centric discourse the book attempts to understand and explain various insights from the Gita through in the author s words derived theory and application The Gita Way attempts to shed light on matters of self realisation and identifying and following the path to achieve the purpose of life Within the framework of Vedic philosophy represented by Gita this book explores How to discover the swa bhava the inherent natural strength of our real self Is my profession aligned with my swa bhava What is my purpose of life What is the real meaning of moksha the liberation How the realization of individual purpose leads us to attain supreme purpose we are born to achieve How yoga of knowledge karma and devotion is applied to realise self stay on the path of the goal and attain the real purpose Unlike other books on Bhagavad Gita The Gita Way is not a chapter wise discourse Instead it presents deduced concepts in first place supported with relevant reference from the whole Gita For example in the first chapter of this book you may get a reference of last chapter of Gita relevant to the topic of discussion Few thought provoking quotes from the book Whether we are believers or non believers one thing is evident that we exist There is no disparity in the intensity of our existence no matter who we are I exist and the significance of my existence is second to none Lack of knowledge is ignorance which creates fear All of us have one thing common in our respective goals to reach the peak in whatever profession we choose The difference is in the clarity of the goal whether it is known or yet to be known whether it is in dreams or in action Even a failure can point you in the right direction to re approach your goal but this is possible only if you accept failure with a stable mind The consciousness of self with self respect drives a larger purpose The consciousness of self with an inflated ego creates an illusion in the purpose of life Wealth is the reward of having achieved a goal it is not the goal in itself Even if we follow the path that is travelled by the person who has acquired wealth we end up following his goals rather than our own The state of indecisiveness comes when our knowledge and intellect fail to differentiate between two choices There is no limit to knowledge If we have a real quest the whole universe is too small to explore in a lifetime The yoga of knowledge is making knowledge work for us Each one of us has something unique in us All we need is to identify that The path to realising the purpose of life becomes visible only after knowing the nuances of natural strengths which give unconditional enthusiasm We like working on them with incessant power They unlock concealed energy inside us and give a positive push to travel an extra mile The foundation of devotion is the conviction in a purpose Without conviction the mind keeps evaluating options keeping devotion at a distance Devotion is the state of single mindedness and is at its best form when applied to a single goal Devotion for knowledge gives focus and devotion for karma gives perseverance Both focus and perseverance are states of mind and essential elements for any accomplishment Joy comes from small things on the path to achieving the big purpose This could be in the form of an accomplishment an idea love a relationship or even professional success Inaction is a symptom of wastage of time which is akin to wasting life since we do not know how much time we have ABOUT THE AUTHORS Shweta Chandra 34 a post graduate in organic chemistry is a self employed consultant After working with Birla Shloka Edutech she left the promising
