School Success National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine,Health and Medicine Division,Board on Population Health and Public Health Practice,Roundtable on Population Health Improvement,2021-01-29 Education and health care significantly influence well being and health outcomes especially throughout adolescence In fact doctors note that performance in school is highly reflective of a child s current and future health Despite knowledge of this connection pediatricians are rarely aware of their patients school performance and have a limited understanding of the education system Fostering collaboration and aligning efforts within the health and education sectors is a critical step towards building stronger and healthier communities On June 14 2018 the National Academies convened a workshop to discuss how efforts within the health sector can support children s education from pre kindergarten through 12th grade and to explore the barriers between these sectors The committee also examined case examples of health education collaboration and opportunities in policy This publication summarizes the presentations and discussions from the workshop

Building School Culture One Week at a Time Jeffrey Zoul,2013-08-06 Use Friday Focus memos to motivate and engage your staff every week and help create a school culture focused on the growth of students and teachers Easy to understand and implement Friday Focus memos offer an effective and efficient way to improve student learning staff development and school culture from within Written by educational consultant and former principal of two award winning schools Jeffrey Zoul these memos focus on topics such as active learning high expectations gratitude test preparation and more Zoul provides 37 teaching and learning memos one for each week of the school year for principals and other administrators to reproduce and circulate among their staff Zoul prefaces each memo with stories from his experiences as a teacher coach and assistant principal in the K 12 levels You can also write your own memos with guidance on possible topics and teacher takeaways Self-Regulation and Early School Success Megan M. McClelland, Shauna L.

Tominey, 2016-04-08 Self regulation has been identified as an important predictor of school readiness and academic achievement in young children Children who struggle with self regulation are at risk of experiencing peer rejection and academic difficulties Teachers report that there is high variability in children's self regulatory abilities at school entry and that children with an accumulation of risk factors are especially likely to enter school without adequate self regulation skills Moreover early academic skills are often cumulative so children who fail to acquire early skills are at risk of falling behind their peers academically and facing achievement gaps that widen over time Although the relation between self regulation and school related outcomes has been clearly documented our understanding of the pathways through which self regulation influences early achievement and school success remains unclear This special issue considers previously neglected areas in the current understanding of self regulation The seven articles focus on issues including a the complex relations between self regulation and school readiness b predictors of self regulation and academic achievement and c advances in measurement of self regulation and related skills Research that continues to investigate the complex relations and mechanisms that influence early self regulation and related outcomes will inform policy and practice in ways that help all children develop the self regulation skills they need The volume will be of interest to researchers in the field of child development or education and educators and policy makers who are interested in promoting school readiness and academic success This book was originally published as a special issue of Early Education and Development Successful Prevention and Youth Development Programs Laura Ferrer-Wreder, Håkan Stattin, Carolyn Cass Lorente, Jonathan G. Tubman, Lena Adamson, 2012-02-02 From a European Perspective This book charts territory that is profoundly important and yet rarely fully understood The authors have attempted a task that has relevance to the widest possible range of professionals working with children and adolescents In describing and assessing the fields prevention and promotion they have performed an immense service to researchers in this field but also to practitioners across the spectrum from mental health nurses and doctors to teachers and psychologists from social work professionals to psychiatrists and youth counselors There are two other key elements that should be emphasized from the outset The first is that the approach in this book is truly multi disciplinary with the authors making a genuine attempt to draw upon knowledge and practice derived from all the relevant disciplines The second element which makes this book so important is that the authors have worked across countries to ensure that work in the field of intervention from both North America and from Europe should be included This is as welcome as it is refreshing There appear to be so many barriers to true collaboration between the two continents and so many examples of either North American to what is going on across the or European social scientists appearing blind border that the approach taken here should be wholeheartedly commended This book is essentially a review but a rather special review
