The Geoarchaeology Of Whitewater Draw Arizona:

The Geoarchaeology of Whitewater Draw, Arizona Michael R. Waters, 1986 The Anthropological Papers of the University of Arizona is a peer reviewed monograph series sponsored by the School of Anthropology Established in 1959 the series publishes archaeological and ethnographic papers that use contemporary method and theory to investigate problems of anthropological importance in the southwestern United States Mexico and related areas Principles of Geoarchaeology Michael R. Waters, 2022-02-22 Geoarchaeological studies can significantly enhance interpretations of human prehistory by allowing archaeologists to decipher from sediments and soils the effects of earth processes on the evidence of human activity While a number of previous books have provided broad geographic and temporal treatments of geoarchaeology this new volume presents a single author's view intended for North American archaeologists Waters deals with those aspects of geoarchaeology stratigraphy site formation processes and landscape reconstruction most fundamental to archaeology and he focuses on the late Quaternary of North America permitting in depth discussions of the concepts directly applicable to that research Assuming no prior geologic knowledge on the part of the reader Waters provides a background in fundamental geological processes and the basic tools of geoarchaeology He then proceeds to relate specific physical processes microenvironments deposits and landforms associated with riverine desert lake glacial cave coastal and other environments to archaeological site formation location and context This practical volume illustrates the contributions of geoarchaeological investigations and demonstrates the need to make such studies an integral part of archaeological research The text is enhanced by more than a hundred line drawings and photographs

The Archaeology of Ancient Arizona Jefferson Reid, Stephanie Whittlesey, 2016-10-01 Carved from cliffs

and canyons buried in desert rock and sand are pieces of the ancient past that beckon thousands of visitors every year to the American Southwest Whether Montezuma Castle or a chunk of pottery these traces of prehistory also bring archaeologists from all over the world and their work gives us fresh insight and information on an almost day to day basis Who hasn't dreamed of boarding a time machine for a trip into the past This book invites us to step into a Hohokam village with its sounds of barking dogs children's laughter and the ever present grinding of mano on metate to produce the daily bread Here too readers will marvel at the skills of Clovis elephant hunters and touch the lives of other ancestral people known as Mogollon Anasazi Sinagua and Salado Descriptions of long ago people are balanced with tales about the archaeologists who have devoted their lives to learning more about those who came before Trekking through the desert with the famed Emil Haury readers will stumble upon Ventana Cave his answer to a prayer With amateur archaeologist Richard Wetherill they will sense the peril of crossing the flooded San Juan River on the way to Chaco Canyon Others profiled in the book are A V Kidder Andrew Ellicott Douglass Julian Hayden Harold S Gladwin and many more names synonymous with the continuing saga of southwestern archaeology This book is an open invitation to general readers to join in solving the great archaeological puzzles of this part of the world Moreover it is the only up to date summary of a field advancing so rapidly that much of the material is new even to professional archaeologists Lively and fast paced the book will appeal to anyone who finds magic in a broken bowl or pueblo wall touched by human hands hundreds of years ago For all readers these pages offer a sense of adventure that you are there stir of excitement that comes only with making new discoveries about the distant past

White Mountain Redware Roy L. Carlson, 2022-02-08 A study of the styles of decoration found on the early southwestern pottery known as White Mountain Redware The White Mountain Redware tradition an arbitrary division of the Cibola painted pottery tradition is composed of those vessels which have a red slip and painted decoration in either black or black and white which when grouped into pottery types have a geographic locus within or immediately adjacent to the Cibola area and which share a number of other attributes indicative of close historical relationships Salado Archaeology of the Upper Gila, New Mexico Stephen H. Lekson, 2002-03 Salado is an enigma of the past One of the most spectacular cultures of the ancient Southwest its brilliant polychrome pottery has been subjected to varied interpretations from religious cult to artistic horizon Stephen Lekson now uses data from two Salado sites a large pueblo and a small farmstead to clarify long standing misconceptions about this culture By combining analysis of the large whole vessel collection at Dutch Ruin with the scientific excavation of Villareal II a picture of Salado emerges that enables Lekson to evaluate previous competing theories and propose that Salado represents a major fourteenth century migration of Pueblo peoples into the Chihuahuan deserts Lekson demonstrates that late short lived Salado farmsteads difficult to identify archaeologically in areas with larger Mimbres concentrations coexisted with larger Salado towns and he argues that Salado in the Upper Gila region appears as a substantial in migration of Mogollon Uplands populations into what was a vacant river valley Throughout the fourteenth century Salado communities in the Upper Gila were integrated into the larger Salado horizon and were closely connected to Casas Grandes as indicated by the export of serpentine to the city of Paquim and the occurrence of Casas Grandes pottery at Upper Gila Salado sites The book includes illustrations of 71 vessels from Dutch Ruin plus a full color frontispiece Through analysis of these two sites Lekson has taken a large step toward clearing up the mystery of Salado His work will be welcomed by all who study the movements of peoples in the prehispanic Southwest Evolving Complexity And Environmental Risk In The Prehistoric Southwest Joseph A. Tainter, 2018-05-04 This book explores how and why prehistoric Southwestern societies changed in complexity and offers important new perspectives on evolution of culture It discusses the factors that made prehistoric Southwesterners vulnerable to an arid environment and their strategies to lessen risk and stress The Quality of the Archaeological Record Charles Perreault, 2019-09-16 Paleobiology struggled for decades to influence our understanding of evolution and the history of life because it was stymied by a focus on microevolution and an incredibly patchy fossil record But in the 1970s the field took a radical turn as paleobiologists began to investigate processes that could only be recognized in the fossil record across larger scales of time and space That turn led to a new wave of macroevolutionary investigations novel insights into the evolution of species and a growing prominence for the field among the biological sciences In The Quality of the Archaeological Record Charles Perreault shows that archaeology not only faces a parallel problem but may also find a model in the rise of paleobiology for a shift in the science and theory of the field To get there he proposes a more macroscale approach to making sense of the archaeological record an approach that reveals patterns and processes not visible within the span of a human lifetime but rather across an observation window thousands of years long and thousands of kilometers wide Just as with the fossil record the archaeological record has the scope necessary to detect macroscale cultural phenomena because it can provide samples that are large enough to cancel out the noise generated by micro scale events By recalibrating their research to the quality of the archaeological record and developing a true macroarchaeology program Perreault argues archaeologists can finally unleash the full contributive value of their discipline The Marana Community in the Hohokam World Suzanne K. Fish, Paul R. Fish, John Henry Madsen, 1992 This account of Classic Period settlement in the Tucson Basin between A D 1100 and 1300 is the first comprehensive description of the organization of territory subsistence and society in a Hohokam community of an outlying region Broad recovery of settlement patterns reveals in unique detail the developmental history of the Marana Community and its hierarchical structure about a central site with a platform mound Remains of diverse agricultural technologies demonstrate the means for supporting populations of previously unrecognized size Encyclopedia of Prehistory Peter N. Peregrine, Melvin Ember, 2001-12-31 The Encyclopedia of Prehistory represents temporal dimension Major traditions are an attempt to provide basic information also defined by a somewhat different set of on all archaeologically known cultures sociocultural characteristics than are eth covering the entire globe and the entire nological cultures Major traditions are prehistory of humankind It is designed as defined based on common subsistence a tool to assist in doing comparative practices sociopolitical organization and research on the peoples of the past Most material industries but language ideology of the entries are written by the world s and kinship ties play little or no part in foremost experts on the particular areas their definition because they are virtually and time periods unrecoverable from archaeological con The Encyclopedia is organized accord texts In contrast language ideology and ing to major traditions A major tradition kinship ties are central to defining ethno is defined as a group of populations sharing logical cultures Stone Age Spear and Arrow Points of California and the Great Basin Noel D. Justice, 2002-05-23 Noel Justice adds another regional guide to his series of important reference works that survey describe and categorize the projectile point and cutting tools used in prehistory by Native American peoples This volume addresses the region of California and the Great Basin Written for archaeologists and amateur collectors alike the book describes over 50 types of stone arrowhead and spear points according to period culture and region With the knowledge of someone trained to fashion projectile points with techniques used by the Indians Justice describes how the points were made used and re sharpened His detailed drawings illustrate the way the Indians shaped their tools what styles were peculiar to which regions and how the various types can best be identified There are hundreds of drawings organized by type cluster and other identifying characteristics The book also includes distribution maps and color plates that will further aid the researcher or collector in identifying specific periods cultures and projectile types
