The Georgian Triumph 1700 183:

The Georgian Triumph, 1700-1830 Michael Reed, 2024-11-01 In The Georgian Triumph 1700 1830 originally published in 1983 Michael Reed re creates the ambience of eighteenth century Britain a period of astonishing change and paradoxically of massive stability Both the change and the stability were reflected in the landscape Dr Reed explores the visual impact on the landscape of the adoption of new ideas and practices These range from the acceptance of the Palladian style of architecture and its gradual replacement by a taste for Gothic Picturesque or Chinese designs to the practical exploration of the power of atmospheric pressure and improvements in road making techniques and the design of water wheels He describes the feel of what it must have been like to live through the years which saw the beginning of the end for the old medieval society and the birth of a modern industrial nation Traditional ways of life were slowly abandoned as ancient open fields were enclosed and divided up by straight roads and hedgerows Changes in the moral climate led to the gradual disappearance of village feasts and the suppression of cockfighting and bull running while other more acceptable pastimes such as horse racing and cricket acquired rules and institutions The book shows that these changes were brought about by people at work and at play going about their everyday affairs they wrote and re wrote upon the landscape the autobiography of the society of which they formed a part reflecting its aspirations ideals and achievements In the Wake of Cook David Mackay, 2018-03-14 Originally published in 1985 After the epoch making voyages of exploration of Captain Cook a series of further exploratory missions was financed by the British government to add to the knowledge of the lands of the southern hemisphere a more minute examination of the coast was for example the brief of the voyage of the Investigator Specimens of plants and fauna were to be collected and useful products noted The combination of the commercial streak with a commitment to empirical science was typical of the interests of the eighteenth century This book traces the explorations and achievements of those who undertook missions of this kind as extensions of their patrons eyes as it were The commercial possibilities of cotton furs foodstuffs and other products were exploited to the full and the achievements of science thus helped to strengthen the imperial effort Notable figures include the distinguished naturalist Sir Joseph Banks and the notorious Captain Bligh of the Bounty The fascination and wide ranging story is told with full scholarly documentation and many new insights and discoveries The Georgian triumph 1700-1830 Michael Reed, 1981 The Scriblerian and the Kit-Cats, 1989 Avery Index to Architectural Periodicals. 2d Ed., Rev. and Enl Avery Library, 1995 Passion and Control: Dutch Architectural Culture of the Eighteenth Century Freek Schmidt, 2017-07-28 Passion and Control explores Dutch architectural culture of the eighteenth century revealing the central importance of architecture to society in this period and redefining long established paradigms of early modern architectural history Architecture was a passion for many of the men and women in this book wealthy patrons burgomasters princes and scientists were all in turn infected with architectural mania It was a passion shared with artists architects and builders and a vast cast of Dutch society who contributed to a complex web of architectural discourse and who influenced building practice The author presents a rich tapestry of sources to reconstruct the cultural context and meaning of these buildings as they were perceived by contemporaries including representations in texts drawings and prints and builds on recent research by cultural historians on consumerism material culture and luxury print culture and the public sphere and the history of ideas and mentalities
