The German Campaign In Poland 1939:

"The" German Campaign in Poland 1939 Robert M. Kennedy, 1956 The German Campaign in Poland (1939). Robert M. Kennedy, 1988 The German Campaign in Poland, 1939 Robert M. Kennedy, 1956 The German attack on Poland precipitated World War II making the Polish campaign one of particular significance to the student of the 1939-45 conflict. The lessons learned by the German Army in its operations in Poland were put to use in the later campaigns against the western Allies, the Balkan states and the Soviet Union. Poland also formed the testing ground for new theories on the use of armored forces and close air support of ground troops. The complete destruction of the Polish state and the removal of Poland from the map of eastern Europe were grim portents of the fate of the vanquished in the new concept of total war. The purpose of this campaign study is to provide the United States Army with a factual account of German military operations against Poland based on source material from captured records currently in the custody of The Adjutant General Department of the Army, monographs prepared by a number of former German officers for the Historical Division, United States Army Europe, and such Polish accounts as were available. Abstract GERMAN CAMPAIGN IN POLAND (1939). United States Department of the Army, 1959 The German Campaign in Poland, September 1 to October 5, 1939, Etc. [With Maps]. United States War Department, 1942 German Campaign in Poland (1939) Robert M. Kennedy, 2003-02 This volume is one of a series produced by the American intelligence services after the Second World War and written by captive German officers who had detailed knowledge of the operation. It looks at the political situation before the outbreak of war on 1 September 1939 as well as examining in some detail German military developments up to the start of the war. The Polish military situation is included together with the actual German plans for the invasion. Operations are reported in great detail accompanied by maps. Operations by Army Groups North and South receive separate treatment but are always linked at the strategic level. There is a chronological treatment of the first battles and of the subsequent destruction of the Polish Armed Forces as well as the intervention by Russian forces under the terms of the Ribbentrop-Molotov agreement of August 1939 which freed Hitler from the fear of a two-front war. There are ten maps of the developing military campaign. As the campaign which started the Second World War, Poland in 1939 deserves study especially the German reactions to the lessons learned during the campaign, the solutions to which were in effect by May 1940 when the invasion of France and the Low Countries took place. The German Campaign in Poland War Department, 2017-04-03 This is an in-depth examination of the successful tactics used by the German army and air force compiled by the United States War Department to be studied in preparation for meeting the Germans on the battlefield. The author explains how through the proper and effective use of intelligence, combined arms tactics and fifth column activities the German military was able to secure a massive and overwhelming victory. The German Campaign in Poland, 1939, by Robert M.
