The Golden Dream:

The Golden Dream R. M. Ballantyne, 2007-12-01 Ned Sinton gazed at the scene before him with indescribable amazement He had often witnessed strange things in the course of his short though chequered life but he had never seen anything like this Many a dream of the most extravagant nature had surrounded his pillow with creatures of curious form and scenes of magic beauty but never before either by actual observation or in nightly vision had Ned Sinton beheld a scene so wonderful as that which now lay spread out before him Ned stood in the centre of a cavern of vast dimensions so vast and so full of intense light that instead of looking on it as a huge cave he felt disposed to regard it as a small world The sides of this cavern were made of pure gold and the roof far above his head was spangled all over with glittering points like a starry sky The ground too and in short everything within the cave was made of the same precious metal The Golden Dream (Esprios Classics) Robert Michael Ballantyne, 2022-02-02 Robert Michael Ballantyne 24 April 1825 8 February 1894 was a Scottish author of juvenile fiction who wrote more than 100 books He was also an accomplished artist and exhibited some of his water colours at the Royal Scottish Academy In 1848 he published his first book Hudson s Bay or Life in the Wilds of North America and for some time was employed by the publishers Messrs Constable In 1856 he gave up business to focus on his literary career and began the series of adventure stories for the young with which his name is popularly associated The Golden Dream R.
