Skills In The Junior School:

Skills in the Junior School Beryl Ash, Barbara Rapaport, 1960 Noncognitive Skills and Their Influencing Factors for Children Jinyan Zhou, 2021-12-19 Non cognitive skills are often used to refer to those skills that do not fall within the cognitive category but to describe a stable pattern of thought feeling and behavior in different situations and backgrounds with profitable and investable characteristics such as conscientiousness perseverance and teamwork which are critically important in education However for many years non cognitive skills have always been ignored in human capital theory The book using a multidisciplinary approach tries to uncover the noncognitive components of human capital so as to answer the question what is the skill that should be invested in The author expands the connotations of human capital by exploring the value of noncognitive skills and their production patterns constructing a measurement framework and a set of tools to measure noncognitive skills She especially carries out an empirical survey which covers primary and secondary school students from seven provinces of China s east middle and west areas With the data collected she analyzes Chinese students noncognitive development and further identifies the critical factors that may impact their noncognitive skills by applying the Bayesian Model Average approach The book will be a theoretical contribution to education economics Researchers interested in education in China children s development and policymakers in the field of education will find this book helpful and resourceful

Management Skills in Primary Schools Les Bell, 2018-05-11 Originally published in 1988 The qualities that identify a good school are high teaching standards and teacher morale good levels of behaviour successful pupil performance and a well balanced provision of extra curricular activities Such schools are described as well run but the correlation between effectiveness and an explicit management strategy is not yet established This book seeks to examine the role of management in the primary school and to identify those areas in which effective management practice can make a valuable contribution to school life for the benefit of both staff and pupils It argues that although useful insights can be gained into school organisation from the scientific management perspective the human relation approach to management has more to offer to those working in the primary sector The focus is therefore on personal relationships The importance of a clear sense of purpose is emphasised throughout especially in view of the challenges which now face our primary schools
