Tertullian the African David E. Wilhite,2011-06-24 Who was Tertullian and what can we know about him This work explores his social identities focusing on his North African milieu Theories from the discipline of social cultural anthropology including kinship class and ethnicity are accommodated and applied to selections of Tertullian's writings In light of postcolonial concerns this study utilizes the categories of Roman colonizers indigenous Africans and new elites The third category new elites is actually intended to destabilize the other two denying any essential Roman or African identity Thereafter samples from Tertullian's writings serve to illustrate comparisons of his own identities and the identities of his rhetorical opponents The overall study finds Tertullian's identities to be manifold complex and discursive Additionally his writings are understood to reflect antagonism toward Romans including Christian Romans which is significant for his so called Montanism and Romanized Africans While Tertullian accommodates much from Graeco Roman literature laws and customs he nevertheless retains a strongly stated non Roman ness and an African ity which is highlighted in the present monograph

Police Unlimited Paul Mutsaers,2019-02-14 Police Unlimited is centred on the controversial idea that police forces are a focal point for conflict in modern society Instead of emphasising the socially integrative function of police forces the book links to a conflict model concerned with its socially divisive effects Throughout the book the consequences of this social division are discussed using a detailed ethnographic study of the Dutch police as a starting point and extending the analysis out to look at the global situation The book is based on a five year ethnography exploring police discrimination in the Dutch police It examines cases of conflict both inside and outside the police station thus covering interethnic tensions at work as well as hostility towards migrants observed while joining officers on patrol The cases are discussed in light of the corroding public character of Dutch policing and the risks involved in terms of discrimination and the arbitrary or even privatized use of power Signalling an increased blurring of the private and public spheres in policing the book warns of an unlimited police service that is no longer constrained by the public contours that delineate a legal bureaucracy To develop a police anthropology the ethnographic materials are consistently compared with other police ethnographies in the global north and global south This comparative analysis points out that the demise of bureaucracy makes it increasingly difficult for police organizations across the globe to exclude politics particularism and populism from their operations Police Unlimited addresses the curious position of police organizations in the 21st century through the lens of a police anthropology concerned with deep seated police discrimination across the world In an age in which bureaucracy is considered to be the social evil of our time Police Unlimited offers a controversial message it is exactly the dehumanized and impersonal nature of bureaucracy that transforms policing into a neutral and fair practice
