The Art Of Renaissance Venice Architecture Sculpture And Painting 1460 159:

The Art of Renaissance Venice Norbert Huse, Wolfgang Wolters, 1993-10-30 Norbert Huse and Wolfgang Wolters provide the first contemporary single volume survey of the three arts of Venice painting sculpture and architecture They offer an important counterbalance to the traditional orientation toward painting as the city's preeminent art by focusing on architecture as the essential Venetian artistic medium In the process they define the distinctly Venetian terms by which the city and culture should be understood Huse and Wolters begin their study with 1460 when Venice was one of the key powers of Italy and end their discussion with the death of Tintoretto in 1594 a period of waning international power Wolfgang Wolters outlines the city's development and present a typological survey of Venetian architecture A review of sculptors and their works follows Norbert Huse opens the next section on painting by describing the changed situation of painters at the end of the fifteenth century He explores the different forms and functions of Venetian paintings in three distinct periods With over three hundred illustrations and an exhaustive bibliography this volume successfully fills a gap in art historical scholarship From publisher's description

Flesh and Stone: The Body and the City in Western Civilization Richard Sennett, 1996-03-17 This vivid history of the city in Western civilization tells the story of urban life through bodily experience Flesh and Stone is the story of the deepest parts of life how women and men moved in public and private spaces what they saw and heard the smells that assailed them where they ate how they dressed the mores of bathing and of making love all in the architecture of stone and space from ancient Athens to modern New York Early in Flesh and Stone Richard Sennett probes the ways in which the ancient Athenians experienced nakedness and the relation of nakedness to the shape of the ancient city its troubled politics and the inequalities between men and women The story then moves to Rome in the time of the Emperor Hadrian exploring Roman beliefs in the geometrical perfection of the body The second part of the book examines how Christian beliefs about the body related to the Christian city the Venetian ghetto cloisters and markets in Paris The final part of Flesh and Stone deals with what happened to urban space as modern scientific understanding of the body cut free from pagan and Christian beliefs Flesh and Stone makes sense of our constantly evolving urban living spaces helping us to build a common home for the increased diversity of bodies that make up the modern city

Venice & Antiquity Patricia Fortini Brown, 1996-01-01 Inscriptions medals and travelers accounts on more learned humanist and antiquarian writings and most importantly on the art of the period Brown explores Venice's evolving sense of the past She begins with the late middle ages when Venice sought to invent a dignified civic past by means of object image and text Moving on to the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries she discusses the collecting and recording of antiquities and the incorporation of Roman forms

Art of Renaissance Venice, 1400 1600 Loren Partridge, 2015-03-14 A comprehensive and richly illustrated survey of Venetian Renaissance architecture sculpture and painting created between 1400 and 1600 addressed to students travellers and the general public The works of art are analysed within Venice's cultural circumstances political economic intellectual and religious and in terms of function style iconography patronage classical sources gender art theories and artist s innovations rivalries and social status The text has been divided into two parts the fifteenth century and the sixteenth century each part preceded by an introduction that recounts the history of Venice to 1500 and to 1600 respectively including the city s founding ideology territorial expansion social classes governmental structure economy and religion The twenty six chapters have been organized to lead readers systematically through the major artistic developments within the three principal categories of art governmental ecclesiastic and domestic and have been arranged sequentially as follows civic architecture and urbanism churches church decoration ducal tombs and altarpieces refectories and refectory decoration section two only confraternities architecture and decoration palaces palace decoration devotional works portraits secular painting and halls of state villas and villa decoration The conclusion offers an overview of the major types of Venetian art and architectural patronage and their funding sources Provided by publisher Index to Book Reviews in Religion ,1992

Bibliographic Index ,1991 The Renaissance in National Context Roy Porter,Mikulas Teich,1992 The Renaissance in National Context aims to dispel the commonly held view that the great efflorescence of art learning and culture in the period from c 1350 to 1550 was solely or even primarily an Italian phenomenon These essays address the development of art literacy and humanism across the length and breadth of Europe showing that the Renaissance had many sources independent of Italy meeting numerous local needs and serving diverse local functions specific to the political economic social and religious climates of various regions and principalities The authors show that though the Renaissance was in a fashion backward looking recovering the culture of antiquity it nevertheless served as the springboard for many specifically modern developments including the rise of diplomacy education printing nationalism and the new science Bibliographic Guide to Art and Architecture New York Public Library.
