Bronze Age I and II, Southern Levant Alexander H. Joffe,1993 This book discusses the development of indigenous patterns of small scale complexity during the Early Bronze I and II periods ca 3500 2700 BCE in the Southern Levant Aspects of methodology are outlined including an assessment of archaeological surveys and their limitations The book discusses the background to the emergence of complex societies during the fourth and third millennia BCE suggesting that the Southern Levant was preadapted to cycles of rising and collapsing complexity by mechanisms of social decomposition and reformulation Using settlement pattern data as a focal point the book synthesizes the available data for the emergence of Early Bronze II urbanism and trade oriented economies in the Southern Levant from Early Bronze I village level organization stressing the importance of intersocietal contacts Mediterranean crop production and highland lowland exchange The book is designed to synthesize the evidence for early urban development in the Southern Levant and to situate the discussion in terms generally associated with the large core civilizations of Mesopotamia and Egypt It therefore addresses issues of interest to scholars working in the Southern Levant as well as those seeking cross cultural perspectives on early complex societies The Early Bronze Age Sanctuary at Ai (et-Tell) Joseph A. Callaway,William W. Ellinger,1972 European Societies in the Bronze Age A. F. Harding,2000-05-18 The Bronze Age roughly 2500 to 750 BC was the last fully prehistoric period in Europe and a crucial element in the formation of the Europe that emerged into history in the later first millennium BC This book focuses on the material culture remains of the period and through them provides an interpretation of the main trends in human development that occurred during this timespan It pays particular attention to the discoveries and theoretical advances of the last twenty years that have necessitated a major revision of received opinions about many aspects of the Bronze Age Arranged thematically it reviews the evidence for a range of topics in cross cultural fashion defining which major characteristics of the period were universal and which culture and area specific The result is a comprehensive study that will be of value to specialists and students while remaining accessible to the non specialist The Early Bronze Age III and IVA1 at Tell Mardikh/Ebla and Its Region Agnese Vacca,2020 The site of Tell Mardikh ancient Ebla in north inner Syria had three periods of flourishing in Early Bronze IVA the age of the State Archives Early Bronze IVB and Middle Bronze I II between ca 2400 and 1600 BC The volume by Agnese Vacca explores the phases of formation of this great urban culture between ca 2750 2700 and 2450 BC EB III IVA1 by means of an accurate and in depth analysis of stratigraphy architecture ceramic materials and small finds 0The analysis was carried out in part on the field but it is also the brilliant result of a painstaking work of study of excavation records and files from the archives of the Ebla Excavation which allowed the author to collect consistent evidence from individual buildings like Building G2 and Building G5 and to relate it with scattered evidence from other sectors of the town leading to the reconstruction of a coherent picture of pre Palace G phases As concerns specifically the ceramic repertory Vacca starting with the evidence from Ebla enlarges her analysis singling out a specific pottery horizon of the Ebla region whose relations with other contemporary assemblages in the Northern Levant are presented in detail The resulting picture from Ebla and its region has been related with the contemporary evidence from the Northern Levant and Upper Mesopotamia and has been framed in the general background of the process of state formation in this very important region of the ancient Near East The Aşvan Sites Antonio G. Sagona,1994 Excavations at the Early Bronze IV Sites of Jebel Qa'aqir and Be'er Resisim William G. Dever,2018-07-17 This volume is the final report of excavations carried out in the Hebron hills and the Negev desert in 1967 1980 on behalf of Hebrew Union College in Jerusalem and the University of Arizona They were pioneering multidisciplinary projects that helped to illuminate what was then a poorly known Dark Age in the cultural history of ancient Palestine a nonurban interlude of pastoral nomadic movements over several centuries ca 2400 2000 B C E between the great urban civilizations of the early Bronze Ages Eighteen appendixes by specialists in many disciplines analyze all aspects of material culture and human and animal remains A history of previous scholarship and a synthesis of the EB IV period in both Israel and Jordan conclude the volume which will be a landmark study for many years
