Indigenous Literature of Oceania Nicholas J.

Goetzfridt,1995-02-28 Oceania has a rich and growing literary tradition The imaginative literature that emerged in the 1960s often reflected the forms and structures of European literature though the ideas expressed were typically anticolonial After three decades the literature of Oceania has become much more complex in terms of style as well as content and authors write in a multiplicity of styles and voices While the written literature of Oceania is continuously gaining more critical attention questions about the imposition of European literary standards and values as a further extension of colonialism in the Pacific have become a central issue This book is a detailed survey of the expanding amount of critical and interpretive material written about the imaginative literature of authors from Oceania It focuses on commentary and scholarship concerned with the poetry fiction and drama written in English by indigenous peoples of the Pacific Islands New Zealand and Australia The criticisms have appeared in academic books and journals since the mid 1960s They have developed to the point at which critical issues related to decolonization and the expression of ideas without having to first satisfy foreign expectations often determine the direction of such discussions Entries are grouped in topical chapters and each entry includes an extensive annotation An introductory essay summarizes the evolution of Pacific literature

Encyclopedia of Post-Colonial Literatures in English Eugene Benson,L.W. Conolly,2004-11-30 Post Colonial Literatures in English together with English Literature and American Literature form one of the three major groupings of literature in English and as such are widely studied around the world Their significance derives from the richness and variety of experience which they reflect In three volumes this Encyclopedia documents the history and development of this body of work and includes original research relating to the literatures of some 50 countries and territories In more than 1 600 entries written by more than 600 internationally recognized scholars it explores the effect of the colonial and post colonial experience on literatures in English worldwide

Pacific Islands Writing Michelle Keown,2007-10-04 The Oxford Studies in Postcolonial Literatures series offers stimulating and accessible introductions to definitive topics and key genres and regions within the rapidly diversifying field of postcolonial literary studies in English The first book of its kind Pacific Islands Writing offers a broad ranging introduction to the postcolonial literatures of the Pacific region Drawing upon metaphors of oceanic voyaging Michelle Keown takes the reader on a discursive journey through a variety of literary and cultural contexts in the Pacific exploring the Indigenous literatures of Polynesia Melanesia and Micronesia and also investigating a range of European or Western writing about the Pacific from the adventure fictions of Herman Melville R L Stevenson and Jack London to the P keh European settler literatures of Aotearoa New Zealand The book explores the relevance of international postcolonial theoretical paradigms to a reading of Pacific literatures but it also offers a region specific analysis of key authors and texts drawing upon indigenous Pacific literary theories and sketching in some of the key socio historical trajectories that have inflected Pacific writing Well established Indigenous Pacific authors such as Albert Wendt Witi Ihimaera Alan Duff and Patricia Grace are considered alongside emerging writers such as Sia Figiel Caroline Sinavaiana Gabbard and Dan Taulapapa McMullin The book focuses primarily upon Pacific literature in English the language used by the majority of Pacific writers but also breaks new ground in examining the growing corpus of francophone and hispanophone writing in French Polynesia New Caledonia and Easter Island Rapa Nui

Postcolonial Theory and Crisis Paulo de Medeiros, Sandra Ponzanesi, 2024-04-01 In the millennial transition the prefix post had come to signify more and more not just the realisation of a coming after but also of the impossibility of not seeing the present as still very much working through the wounds of the past Yet with the appearance of pseudo concepts such as post truth after an equally imaginary death of History the logic of the post itself always already under questioning may appear to have outlived its usefulness How to make sense of postcolonial theory in Europe in the present One way might be to renew its significance as world conflicts have entered a new post imperial phase with the return of ideologies of empire in various parts of the world The essays in this volume address those questions at both a conceptual theoretical level and through the analysis of specific case studies In the Introduction Paulo de Medeiros and Sandra Ponzanesi review the main questions outlined above in relation to the current debates in the Humanities from their respective disciplinary perspectives The volume is organised in four sections each containing four chapters Even though all the chapters present a reflection on Postcolonial Theory and Crisis some focus more specifically on aspects of the crisis in a global perspective such as humanitarian crisis and the role of mediatization of conflicts to issues related to human rights refugees migrancy environmental crisis to questions of memory and postmemory as well as the critique of art and utopian thought
