The Banana Leaf Men (Reprint) Aneeta Sundararaj, 2014-11-04 Feisty independent and highly intelligent Tika having reached the watershed of her thirtieth birthday agrees to submit to the pressure from the formidable Institution of the Aunties and agrees to an arranged marriage She endures a succession of repulsive chauvinistic self important suitors in this compelling humourous and poignant story of the clash of cultures in that rich curry pot of races and social mores that is modern Malaysia The novel has great charm and relevance in a world hurtling towards globalisation Tika s journey has a surprising resolution by Anna Abbott The Banana Leaf Men Aneeta Sundararaj, 2003 A Spectrum of My People, 2006-01-01 These short stories translated from the Telugu language tell of experiences of ordinary middle class people caught in the crevice between traditional and modern ways of life Against a backdrop of feverish modernization and fast paced globalization these The Timor Man Kerry B. culled from a trip to Papua New Guinea in 1991 to clarify some ambiguities in Mead's work. His travels also served to help reconstruct what had happened to the Arapesh since Mead's historic visit in the early 1930s. Margaret Mead (1901-1978) was associated with the American Museum of Natural History in New York for over fifty years, becoming Curator of Ethnology in 1964. She taught at Columbia University and the New School for Social Research as well as a number of other universities. Among her many books is Continuities in Cultural Evolution, available from Transaction Publishers. Paul B. Roscoe is professor of anthropology at the University of Maine. He is a frequent contributor to anthropology journals including American Anthropologist, American Ethnologist, and Current Anthropology and is co-editor with Nancy Lutkehaus of Gender Rituals: Female Initiation in Melanesia. The 1992 recipient of the Royal Anthropological Institute's Curl Essay Prize, he has an archival specialization in ancient Polynesia. Temple Bar, 1905. Nuauulu Religious Practices. Roy F. Ellen, 2012-01-01. How religious practices are reproduced has become a major theoretical issue. This work examines data on Nuauulu ritual performances collected over a 30-year period, comparing different categories of event in terms of frequency and periodicity. It seeks to identify the influencing factors and the consequences for continuity. Such an approach enables a focus on related issues: variation in performance; how rituals change in relation to material and social conditions; the connections between different ritual types; the way these interact as cycles; and the extent to which fidelity of transmission is underpinned by a common model or repertoire of elements. This monograph brings to completion a long-term study of the religious behaviour of the Nuauulu, a people of the island of Seram in the Indonesian province of Maluku. Ethnographically, it is important for several reasons: the Nuauulu are one of the few animist societies remaining on Seram; the data emphasize patterns of practices in a part of Indonesia where studies have hitherto been more concerned with meaning and symbolic classification; and because Nuauulu live in an area where recent political tension has been between Christians and Muslims, Nuauulu are paradoxically both caught between these two groups and apart from them.

Social Reproduction and History in Melanesia Robert John Foster, 1995-04-27. In much of Melanesia, the process of social reproduction unfolds as a lengthy sequence of mortuary rites, feast-making and gift-giving through which the living publicly define their social relations with each other while at the same time commemorating the deceased. In this study, Robert J. Foster constructs an ethnographic account of mortuary rites in the Tanga Islands, Papua New Guinea, placing these large-scale feasts and ceremonial exchanges in their historical context and demonstrating how the effects of participation in an expanding cash economy have allowed Tangans to conceive of the rites as customary in opposition to the new and foreign practices of business. His examination synthesizes two divergent trends in Melanesian anthropology by emphasizing both the radical differences between Melanesian and Western forms of sociality and the conjunction of Melanesian and Western societies brought about by colonialism and capitalism.

Ways of Baloma Mark S. Mosko, 2017-11-15. Bronislaw Malinowski's path-breaking research in the Trobriand Islands shaped much of modern anthropology's disciplinary paradigm. Yet many conundrums remain. For example Malinowski asserted that baloma spirits of the dead were responsible for procreation but had limited influence on their living descendants in magic and other matters claims largely unchallenged by subsequent field investigators until now Based on extended fieldwork at Omarakana village home of the Tabalu Paramount Chief Mark S Mosko argues instead that these and virtually all contexts of indigenous sociality are conceived as sacrificial reciprocities between the mirror worlds that baloma and humans inhabit Informed by a synthesis of Strathern's model of dividual personhood and Lévy-Bruhl's theory of participation Mosko upends a century of discussion and debate extending from Malinowski to anthropology's other leading thinkers His account of the intimate interdependencies of humans and spirits in the cosmic generation and coordination of life, momova and death, kaliga strikes at the nexus of anthropology's received wisdom and Ways of Baloma will inevitably lead practitioners and students to reflect anew on the discipline's multifold theories of personhood, ritual agency and sociality

The Land of Seasons & Songs Sayed Athar Husain Naqvi, 2019 The Land of Seasons and Songs is a flower basket of humor acquainting with cultures and traditions and presenting logical discourses It is recollection of the yesteryears with observations It is a book of criticisms, punches and reformative doses The book reviews the present day ills of the society and describes the culture de grand of the subcontinent of India It describes of its kings, feudalism and genius of the peoples and it sheds light on the world divisive politics as and when it deviates from the path of peace It draws attention to the excellences of poetry that is a naturally flourishing trait in the subcontinent of India The book presents the picture of India under the British rule and remembers of British with affection The book is written in vivid English and the profession of the book is eulogy of the pious and pleasing the soul of the reader The central character of the book is Bachchu Yarwah Aekkewan the horse and cart driver With his peculiarities of commands he generates to control his horse on the road and his life as he leads in his village gives an insight into the Indian ology the Indian colloquialism of the region he lives in The thoughts picked for the book are from the observations as factual as the fall of snow Snow It is snowing outside Grass and ground are white Birds have only branches to peg on Or fly across to unknown bites This is nature it has made everything quiet The men don't walk dogs not out to stride Unless you are secure in shelter will die End of world but will not come time will continue to ride Sayed Athar Husain
