Sister Of The Road The Autobiography Of:

Sister of the Road, 2014-08-18 Born in the shadows of a railroad yard of a wandering mother who took her lovers where she found them and a father who was scarcely conscious of her arrival in the world Bertha Thompson took to the road as soon as the restless impulses of adolescence stirred in her She was more interested in wanderers than those who settled down in homes more interested in criminals than law abiding citizens She wanted to see how they lived live as they did know what they were like As a result of her restlessness and curiosity she became in fifteen years of wandering a hobo traveling from one end of the country to the other in box cars decking passenger trains and hitchhiking member of a gang of shoplifters traveling as the mistress of one of the men a prostitute working in a Chicago brothel the mother of a child of an unknown father and a research worker for a New York social service bureau Sister of the Road is Bertha's own story of those fifteen years and the record of her conclusions about them Gifted with a naturally keen intelligence fearless of consequences to herself willing and eager to do and be everything which other members of her group did and were her story is a mine of little known information and a succession of moving human stories about that vast and growing army of homeless jobless wandering women who live by begging stealing cheating prostituting themselves and occasionally working at legitimate jobs

Cresswell, 2004-06-01 The Tramp in America provides the first account of the invention of the tramp as a social type in the United States between the 1870s and the 1930s Homelessness in American Literature John Allen, 2018-10-24 This book analyzes the theme of homelessness in American literature from the Civil War through the depression Drawing on the work of Harriet Beecher Stowe Horatio Alger Stephen Crane Jacob Riis Jack London Meridel Le Sueur and many others it reveals how homelessness has been either romanticized or objectified Marginal People in Deviant Places Janice M.

Irvine, 2022-07-25 Marginal People in Deviant Places revisits twentieth century ethnographic studies of deviance arguing that ethnographies that focus on marginal subcultures ranging from Los Angeles hoboes to men who have sex with other men in St Louis bathrooms to taxi dancers in Chicago to elderly Jews in Venice California produce new ways of thinking about social difference more broadly in the United States Irvine demonstrates how the social scientists who told the stories of these marginalized groups offered an early challenge to then dominant narratives of scientific racism and then offers a social history of certain American outsiders and a prehistory of the academic fields of ethnic studies and sexuality studies Through the stories Irvine recounts in this book she identifies an American paradox represented in a simultaneous desire for and rejection of outsiders and describes the rise of an outsider capitalism that integrates difference into American society by marketing it Place plays a crucial role in this work as Irvine examines its role in shaping ethnographies about outsiders and therefore understandings of social difference Irvine has visited the sites of each of the ethnographies about which she writes collecting photos videos and archival materials that will help readers understand the importance of place in the generation of particular ethnographic stories The open access online edition of this book is richly illustrated to help convey the deep sense of emplacement of the ethnographies discussed in this book and includes a series of interviews with sociologists about how they conduct their work and understand their forebears Interconnections Carol Faulkner, Alison M. Parker, 2014 Explores gender and race as principal bases of identity and locations of power and oppression in American history This collection builds on decades of interdisciplinary work by historians of African American women as well as scholars of feminist and critical race theory bridging the gap between well developed theories of race gender and power and the practice of historical research It examines how racial and gender identity is constructed from individuals lived experiences in specific historical contexts such as westward expansion civil rights movements or economic depression as well as by national and transnational debates over marriage citizenship and sexual mores All of these essays consider multiple aspects of identity including sexuality class religion and nationality among others but the volume emphasizes gender and race as principal bases of identity and locations of power and oppression in American history Contributors Deborah Gray White Michele Mitchell Vivian May Carol Moseley Braun Rashauna Johnson H I ne Quanquin Kendra Taira Field Michelle Kuhl Meredith Clark Wiltz Carol Faulkner is Associate Professor and Chair of History at Syracuse University Alison M Parker is Professor and Chair of the History Department at SUNY College at Brockport
