Slates Suet Pudding:

Slates and Suet Puddings Carmyl Winkler, Dulcie Callander, 1988 Midcentury Quartet Thomas J. Travisano, 1999-12-29

In a February 1966 letter to her artistic confidant Robert Lowell Elizabeth Bishop tellingly grouped four midcentury poets Lowell Randall Jarrell John Berryman and herself For Bishop always wary of being pigeonholed and therefore reticent about naming her favorite contemporaries it was a rare explicit acknowledgment of an informal but enduring artistic circle that has evaded the notice of literary journalists for more than forty years Despite the private nature of their dialogue the group's members Bishop Lowell Jarrell and Berryman left a compelling record of their mutual interchange and influence Drawing on an extensive range of published and archival sources Thomas Travisano traces these poets' creation of a surprisingly coherent postmodern aesthetic and defines its continuing influence on American poetry The refusal of this midcentury quartet as Travisano calls them to voice a formalized doctrine coupled with their intuitive way of working has caused critics to miss the coherence of their project Travisano argues that these poets are not only successors to Pound Auden Stevens and Eliot but postmodern explorers in their own right In forging their own aesthetic characterized here as a postmodern mode of elegy they encountered significant resistance from their immediate modernist mentors Allen Tate John Crowe Ransom and Marianne Moore Jarrell whom others of the group regarded as a critic of particular genius was first described as a postmodernist in a 1941 review by Ransom that Travisano cites as the earliest known use of the term In Jarrell's review of Lowell's Lord Weary's Castle six years later he named Lowell a postmodernist and identified traits among them the use of pastiche that are now considered by theorists such as Fredric Jameson as specifically postmodern And Bishop's inventiveness allowed her to adapt a self-exploratory mode often but imprecisely termed confessional to challenging forms such as the double sonnet villanelle and sestina Each of these poets suffered a devastating loss during childhood and lived through the twentieth century disasters of the Great Depression World War II and the Holocaust and the cold war The continual tension in their poetry between subjectivity and form claims Travisano reflects the plight of the fractured individual in a postmodern world By arguing so sharply for the importance of this circle Midcentury Quartet is certain to redraw the map of postwar American poetry

Elizabeth Bishop Brett C. Millier, 1992-03-15 Elizabeth Bishop dedicated her poetry to telling what really happened Yet what really happened in the life of one of the twentieth century's finest and most beloved American poets has eluded readers for years In this first full biography Brett Millier pieces together the compelling and painful story of Bishop's life and traces the writing of her brilliantly crafted poems

Rural Australia and the Great War John McQuilton, 2013-05-09

In the cities and in the countryside of Australia the Great War of 1914-1918 marched to somewhat different tempos John McQuilton evokes the wartime experience of all rural Australians by capturing the moods of the country towns and hamlets of North Eastern Victoria Every aspect of the war recruiting fund raising and eventually homecoming and the design of the war memorial was marked by a mixture of small minded local politics heroism and sacrifice and grief Individuals whether journalists town councillors or leading local citizens shaped the recurring battles on the home front The conscription debates were particularly vicious as the countryside exhausted its pool of volunteers long before the cities In small communities the shirker could not hide everyone knew which families had sent men to the front and who had genuine reasons for staying home This intimacy worked in favour of the many German Australians country people knew them as trusted neighbours but in the cities they were reviled as enemy aliens Rural Australia and the Great War is unique among writing on the First World War in creating a richly detailed picture of wartime in a particular part of country Australia For country and city readers alike this is fascinating social history

The Collected Prose Elizabeth Bishop, 1984-11 A compilation of fiction and nonfiction includes both previously published and hitherto unpublished stories such as In the Village The Housekeeper and Gwendolyn and nonfiction works discovered among the author's papers after her death

Elizabeth Bishop Lorrie Goldensohn, 1992 Elizabeth Bishop A Biography of a Poetry is a fascinating account of one of the most influential and beloved poets of the past fifty years Writing a clean spare poetry of elegance lucidity and great charm Bishop appears to offer small insight into her private life wryly remarking that confessional poets overdo the morbidity
