Modelling, Monitoring and Management of Forest Fires II G. Perona, C. A. Brebbia, 2010 As in the past future forest fire scenarios are impacted by climatic trends and changes in climatic extremes as well as by anthropic pressure. It is to be expected that future trends especially in the Mediterranean regions will certainly lead to an increasing impact of human pressure on the natural environment due to increases in tourism and to the enlargement of urban residential areas invading the countryside. Forecasting the effects of both factors climatic and anthropic and separating their effects on forest fires frequencies may be particularly difficult but is essential to improve our knowledge of forest fire occurrence probability and to better organize prevention and fighting activities. At the same time estimation of the possible increase of fire risk over coming years is important taking into account also the diverse fire prone environments present in the Mediterranean as well as many other areas mountain slopes coastal zones large islands etc. This book contains peer reviewed papers presented at the Second International Conference on Modelling Monitoring and Management of Forest Fires held in Kos Greece in 2010. The papers covered important topics in the field of prevention and fighting of forest fires including Computational Methods and Experiments Air Quality and Health Risk Models Detection Monitoring and Response Systems Decision Support Systems Resource Optimization Risk Assessment and Vulnerability Assessment.

Landscape Fire, Smoke, and Health Tatiana V. Loboda, Nancy H. F. French, Robin C. Puett, 2023-10-17. A transdisciplinary approach to investigating relationships between biomass burning and human health outcomes. Where and when wildfires occur what pollutants they emit how the chemistry of smoke changes in the atmosphere and what impact this air pollution has on human health and well being are questions explored across different scientific disciplines. Landscape Fire Smoke and Health Linking Biomass Burning Emissions to Human Well Being is designed to create a foundational knowledge base allowing interdisciplinary teams to interact more effectively in addressing the impacts of air pollution from biomass burning on human health. Volume highlights include Core concepts principles and terminology related to smoke and air quality used in different disciplines. Observational and modeling tools and approaches in fire science. Methods to sense model and map smoke in the atmosphere. Impacts of biomass burning smoke on the health and well being of children and adults. Perspectives from researchers modelers and practitioners.
